"Interview Was Truly Satisfactory," Declare Prelates — Prospect That Services Will Be Resumed in Churches.

ECONOMIC BOYCOTT LIKELY TO END SOON

Report Is That Vatican Is Advised of Situation by Cable, and Developments Await Papal Reply.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 23.—A settlement of the controversy between church and state seemed today to be imminent.

Unless unforeseen obstacles are encountered it is likely that services in Catholic churches throughout the republic, which have been discontinued for three weeks, will be resumed in a short time.

A conference of Bishop Diaz of Tabasco, secretary of the Catholic Episcopate; the Most Rev. Leopoldo Ruiz Y. Flores, Archbishop of Michoacan, and President Calles at the Chapultepec Palace, was "truly satisfactory," says a statement by the Episcopate.

The prelates were informed by President Calles that the requirement that priests register with the Government authorities were made purely for administrative purposes and that it was not the intention of the Government to interfere with the church on question of dogma.

The Episcopate has accepted this declaration, and it is announced that as soon as the churches have fulfilled the legal requirements there will be no objection to resuming church services.

It is not the intention of the Episcopate, however, to abandon its intention to seek through the new Congress, which will convene early next month, to have the religious clauses in the Constitution amended so that the church may function unhindered by them.

Bishops Cordially Received.

The reception of the two prelates by President Calles is described as having been cordial. A statement issued by the Episcopate says the different phases of the religious situation were made clear during an interchange of impressions.

The belief was general today that as soon as details were adjusted there would be an end to the economic boycott, and a resumption of normal religious life.

The fact that Catholic merchants and manufacturers, facing ruin, had urged a compromise in order to prevent further losses through the economic boycott, and that financiers had informed the Government that Mexican credit abroad was being menaced, are believed to have a large share in the developments.

Statement of Bishops.

The statement by the episcopate says:

"Some enemies of religion have charged the episcopate and Catholics with enmity towards the authorities, also that they hinder the Government's action and seek foreign influences to bring about intervention to settle the religious question which at present perturbs the country.

"With the purpose of denying such unjustified reports, Archbishop Ruiz and Bishop Diaz were received today (Saturday) by President Calles, before whom they protested against such charges. They declared that the episcopate, with its doctrine and example, preaches for the Government and has never attempted to bring about foreign intervention in questions exclusively pertaining to the Mexican family.

"The interview with the President was truly satisfactory. Different phases of the religious situation were made clear by the exchange of impressions. The episcopate's purpose to make use of all legal resources toward attaining a constitutional amendment of the articles and precepts which affect our creed, was reiterated. The President told us that he already had declared, through the press, that the registration demanded of priests in charge of the churches had no other purpose than those purely administrative, and that the Government had no intention of interfering in matters relating to dogma or religion.

"With this statement, we expect, once the procedure demanded of us by the church are fulfilled, there will be no obstacle to the resumption of normal religious life.

American Woman Abandons Attempt After 3 Hours and 40 Minutes.

By the Associated Press.
DOVER, Aug. 23.—Miss Clare-belle Barrett of New Rochelle, N. Y., today failed in her second attempt to swim the English Channel.

She started from Dover at 1:40 p. m. today and abandoned her effort at 5:20 p. m. after being in the water three hours and 40 minutes. She was suffering from violent sickness when taken from the water.

She was five miles off South Foreland in the vicinity of Goodwin lightship in a fairly rough sea when she was taken from the water. She had made little progress in the last half hour of her swim.

Miss Barrett said that she would not try again this year to swim the Channel.

Miss Barrett failed in a previous attempt Aug. 22 after she had been in the water 21 hours and 35 minutes.

Two Slayers Walk Casually to Chicago's Auto and Fire—Nephew Hit by Stray Shots.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—A man known as Michael Blando, 35 years old, proprietor of a restaurant in the heart of Chicago's "bad lands," was shot and killed last night by assassins who walked casually up to the automobile in which he was sitting and fired without warning or preliminaries. His nephew, Joseph Varonola, 18, was seriously wounded by stray slugs.

In the car beside her husband was Mrs. Blando, unhurt by the bullets, and today she told police of a murder feud that dated back four years.

"My husband's right name," she said, "was Joseph Delbano. Six years ago we came here from Italy with my husband's family. We went to Arma, Kan., where my husband and his brothers, Carl, Frank and Sam, worked in the mines. In 1922 there was a strike at the mines and the four brothers went to Moundville, Mo., to work, but every Saturday they would drive back to Arma to spend the week-end with their families.

"One Saturday, just out of Moundville, they had a collision with another automobile, driven by a youth. There was a fight and my husband shot and killed the youth.

"My husband and Sam escaped, but Carl and Frank were captured and sentenced to the penitentiary at Jefferson City for the murder. Much later I learned my husband was in Chicago and I came and joined him here.

"However, he never made any effort to help his two brothers, serving sentences for the murder he committed."

In this last sentence, police believe they see the solution to the husband's murder. They immediately made efforts to learn if the brothers had been released and if so to trace their movements.

H. M. Nowlin, 17 years old of Tulsa, Ok., son of Claude Nowlin, St. Louis attorney, was shot to death on the highway near Moundville, Mo., Aug. 29, 1922. He was driving an automobile, with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Molman of Tulsa, when the machine was crowded from the road by the automobile of Carl Delbano, or Delbano, a miner.

Angry words were exchanged and a shot was fired from the Delbano machine, as it moved away.

The youth was killed outright. Carl Delbano was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary, and his brother, Frank, was given ten years. Two other brothers, Sam and Joe, were indicted but never apprehended.

Twelve officers were called and Holton fired at them, the police returning the fire. After 20 shots had been exchanged, a special squad of police from Brooklyn armed with tear gas bombs, arrested a policeman crawled up to the house and dropped two bombs into the hallway. Holton finally staggered out of the house and collapsed. He was taken to a hospital.

Woman Apparently Eating Soup, Husband Choked Piece of Bread; Seven Gas Jets Open.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—A strange tableau of death, such as a fiction writer might work up from his imagination, was witnessed by police today in a West Side tenement apartment.

An aged man and his wife, found dead from gas was seated at a dining table. The woman was eating soup from a bowl of soup before her and a spoon in her hand, and the man, opposite her, with a piece of bread in his hand. Police found seven open gas jets in the apartment. They suspected foul play.

The couple were Tony Matthews, 65, and his wife, Agnes, 65. They apparently had been dead some time.

TEN PASSENGERS HURT ON INTERURBAN CAR

Thirty Others Escape Injury When Train Hits Open Switch at Sager, Ill.

Forty passengers on an Illinois Traction System car, which left St. Louis at 8 a. m. yesterday, bound for Springfield, Ill., escaped serious injury at 10:40 a. m. when the car ran through an open switch at Sager siding, a mile south of Staunton, Ill., struck a freight train and overturned.

Only ten of the passengers were hurt at all and two of these did not require medical attention. Doctors from Staunton quickly cared for the injuries of the others and all were able to continue on their journey with the next car. Traffic on the line was tied up for about an hour.

There were 34 adults and six children on the car. St. Louisans injured were Daniel Dreamer, 20 years old, of 3727 Delmar boulevard, his wife and 6-year-old daughter, Charlotte, who suffered severe cuts and bruises; Christ Behrens, 54, of 1506 Elliot avenue, and William Hickman, 19, of 6114 St. Paul place, who were bruised and cut.

Company officers today began an investigation of the accident. The crews of the car and freight train escaped injury. The slight consequences of the accident were attributed to the steel construction of the car and its moderate speed.

ARCHITECTS SUE SCRIBNERS

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 23.—The Allied Architects' Association of Los Angeles has filed a libel suit for $150,000 damages against Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers of the magazine "Architecture," and Albert C. Martin, author of an article in the magazine which criticized the association.

Martin's article is said to have charged that the association levied excessive costs on patrons, and pointed to alleged mistakes in construction of buildings in Santa Barbara, damaged by earthquakes. The article is quoted as saying that "had this work been in the hands of competent architects, several lives would have been saved."

The association, an organization of 69 architects, declares in its suit that the article is false.

From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Rudolph Valentino, noted motion picture star, died at the Polyclinic Hospital at 12:10 p. m. today (10:10 St. Louis time). He was unconscious at the end.

At his bedside knelt a priest. At the foot of the bed stood Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of the United Artists' Film Corporation, and S. George Ullman, Valentino's manager. Also at hand were three of the four specialists who had fought to save his life—Dr. Harold D. Meeker, Paul E. Durham and G. Randolph Manning. In a chair over in the corner a nurse was sobbing.

Valentino had been unconscious since 6 o'clock this morning. His last word was with Dr. Meeker at 3:30 a. m. Apparently Valentino did not know he was about to die, but expected to win the fight he had made for eight days.

Last Words About Going Fishing.

"Do you know what gives me the most courage, doctor?" Valentino suddenly asked. "No," Dr. Meeker answered.

"It's knowing that you and I are going fishing together next month up in Maine." The doctor knew that Valentino's life then hung by a slender thread, but he made no comment.

The patient murmured something else that the physician did not understand. He leaned over to hear the latter. But the words were incoherent—Valentino was delirious.

He remained in a semi-comatose condition until about 6 o'clock when he became very delirious and talked rapidly in Italian. Soon afterward he lapsed into unconsciousness, never again to recover his senses. It was only a matter of hours until the end.

Septic endocarditis—poisoning of the heart wall—developed, aggravating the pleurisy which had developed in Valentino's left lung. His weakened condition following a double operation for gastric ulcers and appendicitis eight days ago, could not withstand the assaults of new complications.

Schenck Called to Bedside.

Ullman sent for Schenck, who hastened to the hospital and went at once to the suite which Valentino had been occupying on the eighth floor. He caught a glimpse of Valentino, his face wasted away and pinched by the suffering he had undergone, his hands thin and feeble upon the counterpane. He came away visibly affected.

"They tell my Rudy has very little chance," he told reporters.

That was the first definite knowledge that the end was expected.

The star's temperature had climbed to 105, his pulse was beating 140, and his respiration was becoming faint.

"He is sinking rapidly," Ullman said, and sent again for Schenck, the latter reaching the bedside just a few minutes before Valentino breathed his last.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Father Congedo of the Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary, in East Third-third street, came to Valentino, the little town in Italy where Valentino also was born.

Extrem-unction Administered.

Father Congedo administered extreme unction, prayed for some time at his bedside and then left. As he departed, the Rev. Father Edward F. Lennon, rector of St. Malachi's, the actor's church, in Forty-ninth street, entered. He was a friend of Valentino, and yesterday.

GOV. BAKER PLANS TO REVISE LAW ON BANKING OF FUNDS

Will Ask Next Legislature to Forbid Officials' Depositing State Money Outside Treasury.

SEQUEL TO EXPOSE OF BECKER'S SYSTEM

Road Department and Penal Boards Have Accounts With Depositories That Draw No Interest.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 23.—New laws regarding State funds with requirements that all such funds be handled through the offices of the State Auditor and State Treasurer, probably will be proposed to the next Legislature by Gov. Baker.

Baker said today that he planned to recommend that the incidental fees and other funds collected by the State University and the five State teachers' colleges should be accounted for through the Auditor's office, instead of under the present system by which the schools collect and disburse the funds themselves.

The proposals will result from the disclosures which have followed the closing of the Citizens' Security Bank of Englewood, Jackson County. About $25,000 State automobile license funds had been placed there by Secretary of State Becker, whose newspaper published the disclosures.

Becker Cites Other Funds. When it developed that the automobile license money was placed in banks selected by Becker for a time before being transmitted to the State Treasurer, Attorney-General Gentry gave an opinion that the Secretary of State had acted without warrant of law and that the money should have been transmitted direct to the Treasurer. The Governor ordered an audit of the automobile license funds. In the ensuing discussion, Becker pointed out that other departments of the State government handled funds outside the Treasurer's office, and that some of them did not draw interest, whereas he was getting 2 percent on the automobile license funds.

Further inquiry has shown that more than $2,000,000 of the revolving fund of the penitentiary annually passes through two Jefferson City banks, but no interest is paid on these deposits. These funds formerly drew interest on daily balances when they were deposited in another local bank.

The penitentiary revolving fund is deposited by the State Penitentiary Board in the First National Bank and the Exchange Bank of Jefferson City. It largely represents the funds used in operation of the industrial, or factory, department of the prison. Smaller deposits also are carried here for the Boys' Reformatory at Booneville and the Industrial Schools for Girls at Tipton and Chillicothe which are controlled by the board. No interest is paid on any of these deposits, it was learned.

Under a special law, the penitentiary keeps all of its vouchers and invoices, instead of filing them with the State Auditor. Earnings are paid into the revolving fund bills paid out of it.

How the Fund Revolves. The fund, true to its name, moves in a circle. When the penitentiary is ready to pay some bills, a requisition is taken to the State Auditor and a warrant drawn on the revolving fund balance in the Treasury, for the amount of the bills. This warrant is deposited in one of the two banks and the Penal Board's checks for the bills are issued against the bank accounts.

When money is received by the penitentiary it is deposited in one of the other of the banks. At intervals the Penal Board transfers the balances in the banks to the State Treasurer's office, to build up the revolving fund balance there against future requisitions.

Officers of the two banks declared there was little profit in the deposits, because of the heavy fluctuation in the daily balances. The daily prison balances in each of the banks varies from a few thousand dollars up to $150,000 or more, it was said. At times the money is paid out about as fast as deposited, it was stated.

The bankers said the only chance

Postmaster, Portrayed in "Shepherd of Hills," Dies

"Uncle Ike" Morrill, "Who Settled in Ozarks 40 Years Ago, Was Selected by Wright as Type for Novel.

By the Associated Press.
REEDS SPRING, Mo., Aug. 23.—"Uncle Ike" Morrill, 89-year-old Postmaster at Notch, Mo., who was one of the men portrayed in Harold Bell Wright's "Shepherd of the Hills," died here last night.

In the weather beaten cabin at the Forks, he went about his business through the years. He rarely talked of himself, and most of the primitive mountain folk who called at his office for their mail and advice were far better versed in the legendary lore of the Ozark hills than they were of Bowdoin College and the class of 1852, of which the old Postmaster was a member, or the old New York Tribune where he set type by hand back in the 50s.

Levi Morrill was born in Portland, Me., Aug. 21, 1837, of Quaker parents. He graduated from Bowdoin at the age of 15.

Took Greeley's Advice. It was just after my graduation from Bowdoin, he said recently, "that I went to New York and got a job as printer on the old New York Tribune where I came to know Horace Greeley. The gold caravans of covered wagons were continually crossing the plains. Relatives in Kansas stimulated my imagination and filled me with a desire to get out on the frontier, so I went to Mr. Greeley for his advice and heed his decisive reply: 'Go West young man.'

In Kansas, Morrill again set type, this time on the Hiawatha Advocate, now called the Hiawatha World. Then he entered the Civil War, fighting in the battles of Westport and Shiloh. After the war he started in to practice law in Kansas, but a breakdown in health forced him to quit.

It was then some 40 years ago that he started out to find a country as nearly as possible like his old home in the Maine woods. His quest led him to the Ozarks. He found a place where he could live in his pocket and chose as his home a mountain side spot, then 15 miles from the nearest store.

Finally he organized the Notch Postoffice and settled in the spot where Harold Bell Wright found them had to make anything on the deposits was on the "float," that is, the period elapsing between the time of a deposit and the time when the checks issued against that deposit are cleared through by persons receiving the checks. This is not enough to make the accounts profitable or desirable, the bank officers asserted.

$2,150,000 Driven This Year. At the State Auditor's office it was learned that, so far this year, $2,150,000 had been drawn from the revolving fund on requisition by the penitentiary, deposited in the banks, and then used in operation of the prison and industrial department. Last year the requisitions totaled $2,816,000.

Several years ago the revolving fund deposits were carried in the Central Missouri Trust Co. of Jefferson City and that bank paid 2 percent interest on the daily balances. The penitentiary at that time had some surplus and the daily balance was said to average about $400,000.

Early in the Hyde administration the deposit was transferred to the Penal Board to the Exchange Bank. Later pressure was brought to bear on Hyde for division of the account, it was said, and it was divided between the Exchange and First National.

As has been told, the State Highway Department carries a revolving fund deposit in a Jefferson City bank, the daily balances varying from $10,000 up to $50,000, on which no interest is paid. Both department and bank officers asserted the large number of checks handed monthly against the account, and the fluctuating balances, prevented the account from being a profitable one, on which interest could be paid.

The six State eleemosynary institutions, with one exception, receive interest on their daily bank balances. These institutions collect money from the counties for the care of inmates of the institutions, and make monthly remittances to the State Treasurer, together with the interest collected for that month. Each institution also has a revolving fund of $3000 to $5000, and interest is collected on balances in these funds, it was stated.

The funds of the institutions at St. Joseph, Marshall, Nevada, Mount Vernon, Farmington, and Fulton are deposited in banks in those towns, and draw interest on daily balances ranging from 2 percent to 3 percent, except at Mount Vernon, where the banks have declined to pay interest on the balances. Total remittances from all the eleemosynary institutions to the Treasury average about $130,000 a month.

Becker Increased Deposits After Doubtful Paper Was Removed. The inventory of the closed Citizens' Security Bank of Englewood, now on file at Jefferson City, shows that Secretary of State Becker increased the deposit of State automobile license money after the time when, by the requirement of Finance Commissioner French, ques-

A year or so ago someone recommended that the Postmaster at Notch be relieved of his position, but thousands of letters were sent to the Postoffice Department from all parts of the country in protest and Morrill was permitted to hold on to his title and his job until the day of his death.

He married Jennie Dickerson of Notch, Mo., in 1881, at the home of Truman Powell, the original shepherd of the hills. He is survived by his wife, one son, O. R. Morrill and four grandchildren.

tionable paper was removed from the bank by a group of men interested in its affairs.

The amount of license money in the bank May 23 last was $3000, between July 12 and 20, only $3141. Commissioner French's demand for removal of questionable paper, including notes signed by some of Becker's associates, from the bank, was made July 17. After the order was complied with the deposit of State funds was increased, and on Aug. 4 it was $17,450. Aug. 10, it was increased to $23,013, and it remained at that figure when the bank was closed Aug. 7. Last March it had been as high as $50,000.

Another development is that P. E. Cole, cashier, who left the bank once at the Finance Commissioner's demand, but later returned to his position, had given no bond. The bond usually required from a cashier in a small bank like the Englewood one would be $10,000.

The information in the Finance Commissioner's hands as to the Englewood Bank's affairs will be transmitted within a few days to Prosecuting Attorney Hanna of Jackson County. The law requires that such information be furnished by the Commissioner to the Prosecuting Attorney of the county where a bank has failed.

At the State Auditor's office it was learned that, so far this year, $2,150,000 had been drawn from the revolving fund on requisition by the penitentiary, deposited in the banks, and then used in operation of the prison and industrial department. Last year the requisitions totaled $2,816,000.

MAN THROWN OUT AND KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS CURB

Herman Hahn, 21, Was Riding in Crowded Coupe Down Edgemont Hill Near East St. Louis.

Herman Hahn, 21 years old, an electrician, of 4339 St. Louis avenue, was killed at 1:15 a. m. yesterday when an automobile in which he was riding with two other men struck the curb on the Edgemont Hill, east of East St. Louis, street driver of 1794.

A. G. Young, of 1794, Bacon street, driver of the car, said the impact threw the door open and Hahn, the outside man is the crowded coupe seat, was thrown out. His head struck a roadside telephone pole and he was almost instantly killed.

Man Knocked Down by Auto in Front of His Home. Joseph Ghringel, 52 years old, a waiter of 2021 Union boulevard, suffered fractures of the right ribs, leg and collarbone when he was knocked down in front of his home at 9 p. m. yesterday by an automobile driven by Max Li-brah, 45, a contractor of 6006 Kingsbury avenue, and Miss Ruby Kautler, 34, of 5089 Page boulevard, oldied at 8:45 p. m. and ran up on a lawn in front of 5089 Page boulevard. Mrs. Kautler suffered internal injuries.

WOULD-BE ELOPER SHOTS FATHER OF HIS SWEETHEART

Parent Was Waiting for Him When He Went to Farm to Get Girl.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 23.—Bert Johnson, a farmer at Tiskilwa, near here, was seriously wounded last night by Howard Schofer, 20. Schofer planned to elope with Johnson's daughter. Johnson learned of the plan and waited for Schofer, firing at him when he arrived to get the girl. Schofer returned the fire. The daughter witnessed the shooting, but after her father had been shot refused to go with Schofer.

the power to the chosen representatives of the people." He says also: "Gen. Condylis is animated by the most cordial feelings toward the Serbs, his brothers in arms during the World War, and no less well disposed toward the great allied powers on whose side he fought."

Speaking at Athens, Gen. Condylis severely condemned the "Pangalos tyranny." He declared that he would fight any dictatorship. A message from Saloniki states that demonstrations were held there last night in celebration of the overthrow of the Pangalos dictatorship.

Story of Two Coups d'Etat. The coup d'etat engineered by Condylis had been under preparation for some time. About a month ago Pangalos caused the arrest and exile of three former premiers, Kafandaris, Papanastasion and Michalakopoulos in charge of plots and subversive movements. At the time of the arrest of the premiers, the police were reported to be searching for Gen. Condylis. King George was ordered to leave Greece in December, 1923, owing to monarchical difficulties, and the National Assembly declared Greece a republic in March, 1924, ending the dynasty.

Admiral Coundouriotis before assuming the presidency at that time was regent during the forced absence of King Constantine in 1920. Gen. Condylis is a republican. He came into the public eye in January, 1924, when he announced his opposition to the proposed return of King George. He held the post of Minister of Interior and later was Minister of War. Pangalos carried out his military coup in June, 1925, and assumed the premiership. He declared himself virtual dictator a few months later and subsequently was elected president.

When Pangalos carried out his coup he showed some of the "limitless nerve" with which he is credited. With a few adherents he seized the main telephone office in Athens and compelled the operators to send messages throughout the country announcing that he had overthrown the Government. The messages demanded the support of the military and naval units, and these, not realizing the true state of affairs, replied with messages of adherence. These messages were shown by Pangalos to members of the Government, who abdicated in his favor.

There exists what might be called a militant element among the Catholics who favor continuing the boycott to the bitter end and who regret the Episcopal statement describing Saturday night's conference with President Calles as "truly satisfactory," as too optimistic. This element will be satisfied with nothing except a conclusion that can definitely be proclaimed a "Catholic victory."

There also are some elements within the Government that are opposed to anything except a clear-cut Government victory whereby the church would accept the religious regulations without qualification.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—James Rockwell Sheffield, United States Ambassador to Mexico, returned yesterday on the Ward liner Monterey, denying reports from Mexico that he might resign. Ambassador Sheffield said he had returned simply for the 60 days leave in the United States allowed each year by the State Department. He said, however, he expected to confer Wednesday with Secretary of State Kellogg and with President Coolidge soon afterwards.

He said he could not talk of the religious situation in Mexico until he had reported first to the Secretary of State and to the President. He stated at first that he would confer with them concerning the protection of American land and petroleum rights.

Justice Gummere Refuses to Receive Applications for Stevens and Carpenter. By the Associated Press. NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 23.—Chief Justice Gummere of the New Jersey Supreme Court today refused to receive the application for bail of Henry de la Bryere Carpenter and Willie Stevens, held in jail at Somerville as accomplices in the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, at new Brunswick on Sept. 14, 1922.

In declining to consider the application, Justice Gummere, who previously had admitted to $15,000 bail Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, who also is charged with the murders, said he had been requested by Justice Parker to refer to him any such application. Justice Parker, who is in Maine on vacation, presides in Somerset County, where the crimes were committed.

Since Thursday Justice Gummere has been studying court records taken during the commitment hearing before Somerset County Judge Cleary last week. A prima facie case of murder was established against them by the state and they were held without bail.

SUES ALUMINUM CO. FOR $45,000,000

G. D. Haskell Charges Conspiracy of Officers of the Aluminum Company and the Late James Duke, to Whom He Had Confided Plans for Development of the Aluminum Industry.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—A suit for $45,000,000 damages was started in Federal court today by George D. Haskell of Springfield, Mass., president and director of the Bausch Machine and Tool Co., against the Aluminum Co. of America and others under the Sherman antitrust law.

Haskell claims $15,000,000 damages as a result of an alleged conspiracy of officers of the Aluminum company and the late James Duke, to whom he had confided plans for development of the aluminum industry. He asks for three times his actual loss under the provisions of the antitrust law.

The defendants besides the company are Arthur V. Davis, president; Richard B. Mellon, secretary-treasurer; and George H. Clapp, David L. Gillespie, Roy A. Hunt and Alva K. Laurie, directors of the Aluminum company, all of Pittsburgh, Pa.; George B. Julian of New York City, said to have been an associate of the late James B. Duke, and the three executors of Duke's will.

Underweight Women—the Right Way to Gain Flesh
Where Most Needed

If any woman reader—or man either for that matter—is run down, pounds of good healthy flesh to fill out the hollows and have a real worth while "well knit" figure that will compel admiration—do this:

Go to Wolff Wilson Drug Stores and get a bottle of McCoy's.

of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They are full of vitalizing vitamins that put vigor, vim, energy and ambition into rundown men, women and children and cause thin underweight people to gain needed weight.

And right here it may be well to state that the cause of underweight is malnutrition or imperfect assimilation. So that any man or woman whose weight is normal or who is overweight can take McCoy's and gain more vitality, vigor energy and strength without the least fear of taking on weight.

McCoy's will improve your general health and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents.
They are sold with the distinct understanding that you are satisfied with the results. McCoy's.

PRINTERS BEGIN GOLF
TOURNAMENT TODAY

St. Louis and St. Paul Baseball Teams Win First Games of Series.

Men who can handle hot ground-ers as easily as hot type, and who know how to use a mallet as well as a mallet, are playing baseball and golf here this week in the tournaments of the Union Printers' International Baseball League.

The first two baseball games were played yesterday at St. Louis University Field, Grand boulevard and Laclede avenue. The St. Louis printers' team won from New York, 12-3, and St. Paul defeated Toronto, 9-3.

Golf began this morning at Glen Echo links and tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday the printers will play at North Hills Country Club.

Three ball games were scheduled for today, three for tomorrow, two for Wednesday and one each for Thursday and Friday. The cities in the league are St. Louis, Chicago, New York, Detroit, Toronto, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Washington, Boston, Indianapolis and St. Paul.

Entertainment features, which began with a ball at Hotel Chase Saturday night, and continued with a visit to the Municipal Theater last night, will include a banquet at the Chase tomorrow night, as guests of the Mallets' Union; bus ride Tuesday morning and boat ride at night; and dinner at Riverview Club Thursday evening. Trophies will be presented Friday.

MAN'S SCHEME TO DEFRAUD

BEREAVED PERSONS OUTLINED

Worthless Articles Mailed After Deaths Paid for by Survivors, Charge.

A scheme of mailing paper back novels and cheap jewelry to persons who had died, in order to collect exorbitant sums from bereaved persons who believed the articles had been ordered, is described by Postoffice Inspectors at East St.
Louis in a report on activities attributed to Walter H. Earles of Danville, Ill.

Earles was arrested last week on a warrant charging using the mails to defraud. The report is in the hands of Assistant United States Attorney Leseuman at East St. Louis.
Described in the report is the case of a Chicago high school boy who died in June. A cheap novel,
"From Dance Hall to White Slavery," valued at 25 cents, came in the mail, and subsequently the father was billed for an "unpaid balance" of $2.89.

A widow in Chicago, it is said,
received a string of imitation pearls, worth 75 cents, and was asked to pay $3.50 on the statement that her husband ordered them before his death.

The report states that inspectors are investigating 12 cases in which relatives sent money orders to Earles in payment for articles they thought had been ordered.

NOISY MEN WAKE POICEMAN
AND TWO OF THEM GO TO JAIL

Patrolman Reinisch Says They Abused Him When He Asked Them to Be Quiet.

Five noisy men at 2:30 a. m.
today aroused Patrolman Henry Reinisch, who was off duty and asleep in his home at 3832A Virginia avenue. He called to them from his bedroom window to be quiet. One of them cursed him, he says, so he got up and donned his uniform.

He found the men at Chippewa street, half a block distant, and when he attempted to place them under arrest, three of them fled.
He seized the other two, and one of these broke and ran into an alley and hid in an ashpit. Reinisch dragged him out and took the two to the station, charging them with disturbing the peace and resisting arrest. They described themselves as Henry Reinisch, 30 years old, of 2514 Parnell street, a printer, and George Hillen, 26, of 3521 Laclede avenue, a United Railways conductor.

GIRL SURVIVES 4 MEN IN COLD

Four Companions Freeze to Death in Viennese Alps.

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—A party of five, four men and a girl of 22, named Luckner, of Vienna, recently were caught in a snowstorm on the Wiesbachhorn in the Viennese Alps. The four men were frozen to death in the blizzard at a height of 10,000 feet.

Miss Luckner, the only survivor, wrapped herself in her cloak and burrowed into the snow. She lost consciousness and, when she recovered her senses in bright sunshine, she found herself surrounded by the four dead men.

THREE BOYS MISSING IN LAKE

By the Associated Press.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.,
Aug. 23.—Missing three days,
George Pond of Mackinac Island;
George Ackerman, Detroit, and Charles Black, of Chicago, are thought to have lost their lives in a storm which enveloped Upper Lake Huron, last Friday.

The three were at a camp on the Les Cheneaux Islands and started to cross to Mackinac Island to the home of Pond's grandmother. Their broken motor boat with the engine missing was found Saturday but searching parties have been unable to find the boys. Pond was 18 and the other boys about the same age.

Skull Fractured in Fall Downstairs.

1820A Park avenue, fell down an unlighted stairway at his home at 4:30 a. m. today, suffering skull fracture and other serious injuries.

Two Boys and Girl Drowned.
By the Associated Press.
CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Two boys and a girl were drowned yesterday when their rowing boat overturned in the middle of Canandaigua Lake. The dead: John Furman, 15 years old, of Brooklyn; Edna Phillips, 16, and Orden Phillips, 7, of Holcombe, N. Y.

ROBBED AFTER BOAT RIDE ON LAGOONS

Supintendent and Two Friends Held Up as They Land in Forest Park.

Ernest Strehle, superintendent of city parks, and two friends, John Thomas and Leopold Freund, went rowing on the Forest Park lagoons last night. The moon was bright and they remained on the water until 1:30 a. m.

As they landed near the boat-house two men greeted them, one with a revolver, and ordered them to hold up their hands. Charles Brinkman, a park watchman, also was rounded up and put in line with the others. The armed man stood on guard while his companion took $75 from Thomas and $3 from Freund.

The robbers were friendly, and addressed Strehle as "Ernest." They retreated to some shrubbery and disappeared. Strehle and Thomas hurried to their automobiles to give chase and found the ignition had been disconnected.

Strehle lives in Forest Park, at 112 Union boulevard. Thomas resides at 8 Arundel place. Freund at 5532 Delmar boulevard and Brinkman at 4047 Labadie avenue.

Shots Fired During Pursuit of Robbery Suspect in Park.

Detectives riding through Fairground Park at 4:20 a. m. yesterday saw a man with a bundle and heard him shout, "Are you coming?" to someone. The man saw the detectives, dropped his bundle and ran. Shots were fired and a running man was captured by a policeman. The man denied he had had any bundle, and said he ran because he was frightened. The bundle contained 37 cartons of cigarettes and a box of cigars stolen from Speckart Bros. Drug Co., 4100 Natural Bridge avenue, where a window had been broken. An unsuccessful attempt had been made to enter the grocery of Edward Weindrich, 4100 Sullivan avenue.

Chapple Johnson, 27 years old, of 105 South Beaumont avenue, Negro taxicab driver, appeared at the Angelica Street Police Station at 1:30 a. m. today and reported he had been slugged and robbed of $12 and his watch by three Negro fares, who got out of his cab at Prospect Hill, St. Louis County. Sgt. Joseph Schneider returned to Prospect Hill with Johnson and arrested three Negroes, who were identified by Johnson as the robbers. The watch was found nearby. The Negroes denied being robbers.

U. S. THEOSOPHISTS TO SEE HINDU TERMED GOD'S ENVOY

Youth Being Brought From India to Chicago Convention by Mrs. Annie Besant.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—J. Krishnamurti, young Hindu held by members of the Theosophical Society to be the human through whom God's agency will manifest itself upon its next visit to the earth, will attend the convention of the American Theosophical Society here August 28-September 1. He is being accompanied from Adyar, near Madras, India, by Dr. Annie Besant, the International President of the society.

Krishnamurti is not held to be a reincarnation of Jesus Christ, but rather the "physical vehicle" through which the World Teacher will work at His next appearance, and the World Teacher, according to a published address by Mrs. Besant, is "What the Christian means when he speaks of Him who held the office of the Christ."

Krishnamurti became a charge of Mrs. Besant, along with his younger brother who died last year, in 1909 when he was a child. In 1910, according to a statement by Mrs. Besant for a British newspaper, the World Teacher confirmed the placing of Krishnamurti in her charge.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD IN HIRING GIRLS FOR CHORUS

Dancing Teacher, Who Says He Was Promoting Revue, Held for Postal Authorities.

William D. Rossi, an Italian dancing teacher who sought to develop a revue entitled "My Only One," with St. Louis talent, is held at Police Headquarters for postoffice inspectors who have charged him with using the mails to defraud.

He is accused of advertising for chorus girls and men and requiring all prospects to join the National Vaudeville Actors' Association of America, a mythical organization. The inspectors say that in addition to accepting $2 entrance fees from his dupes and signing them up to pay $4 a year dues, Rossi induced them to train for the stage under his direction by promising them high-salaried engagements on the Columbia vaudeville circuit.

Rossi was arrested after an actress whom he had sought to engage discovered that the "National Vaudeville Actors' Association of America" had the same address as the National Vaudeville Actors' Association, a legitimate organization supplying insurance to its members. She was a member of the real organization.

For the last six weeks the "impresario" had been interviewing prospective actors and actresses at his rooms, 4247 Delmar boulevard. When seen by reporters at police headquarters today Rossi said it was all a mistake, that he had taken no money wrongfully and that he yet hopes to complete his production of "My Only One."

MISSOURI GIRL SLAIN BY MAN WHO ENDS LIFE

Bodies Found Near Clarinda, Ia., When Empty Auto
Attracts Attention.

By the Associated Press.
CLARINDA, Ia., Aug. 23.—A quarrel over the sale of a restaurant is believed by county authorities to have been the cause of the slaying of Miss Elsie Bengé, 16 years old, formerly of Maryville, Mo., by Thomas E. Anderson, 56, traveling salesman, who then committed suicide.
The bodies of the girl and Anderson were found in a cornfield near here yesterday by authorities investigating circumstances surrounding an abandoned automobile.
Residents of Clarinda believed the girl owned the restaurant, but papers in Anderson's pockets showed that he was the proprietor.
County authorities were unable to learn the address of Anderson. He is thought to have worked for the United States Standard Stock Food
Co. A relative is said to be enroute to claim the body.
No inquest will be held, the Coroner said. The body of the girl was sent to her former home in Missouri.
There was a wound in Anderson's temple while the girl had been shot three times through the abdomen and once in the chest. A 22-caliber pistol was in Anderson's hand.
A bank book found on Anderson showed a balance of money in a Westboro (Ia.) bank, but officers of the bank said they knew nothing of him.
Girl Had Written to Parents About Quarrel With Anderson.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MARYVILLE, Mo., Aug. 22.—
Miss Elsie Bengé, found slain in Iowa beside the body of T. E. Anderson, in a letter written last week to her parents here, told of a quarrel with Anderson.
"He (Anderson) is going away, and I am glad. We have had a row," she wrote.
Miss Bengé left Maryville about two weeks ago with the announcement that she had purchased a restaurant in Clarinda, Ia.
The Bengé family here regarded Anderson as a philanthropic friend of the girl. Jealousy, they think, was the motive behind the tragedy.
The funeral of Miss Bengé will be here tomorrow.

$54,000 ESTIMATED COST OF FLIGHT AROUND S. AMERICA
"Wise Investment." War Secretary Says—Aim Is to Strengthen Amicable Relations With Latins.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Secretary Davis of the War Department estimated today that the proposed flight around South America by five army planes would cost about $54,000. He said it would be "a wise investment."
"The purpose of this flight," Davis said, "is to strengthen the amicable relations already existing among the American republics, to demonstrate the feasibility of aerial transportation and communication between these widely separated nations and finally to subject the amphibian planes to a severe test over both land and water.
"Effort will not be made to attain speed records, stops being arranged so as to permit the personnel of the flight to visit the capitals of the nations along the itinerary and give opportunity for examination of the airplanes by such observers of those nations as may be interested in the development of commercial air transportation."

Shoots Wife and Himself.
By the Associated Press.
PHILLIPS, Wis., Aug. 23.—Edward Heaton, 34 years old, of Minneapolis yesterday shot and seriously wounded his wife, Ruby Lehrmann Heaton, 27, and wounded himself. Heaton arrived here from Minneapolis and called at the home of his wife's mother and endeavored to arrange a reconciliation with his wife from whom he had been estranged. Heaton fired three times at his wife, each bullet taking effect, and then turned the pistol on himself. Physicians said Mrs. Heaton would recover but that if Heaton recovers he will never see again, a bullet shattered the optic nerves.

"Mental Cruelty" Divorce Grounds.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 23.—
The Baroness Wilhelm von Brincken, screen actress, has won a divorce here on the grounds of "mental cruelty." She was formerly Bertie May Rogers, Atlanta, (Ga.) society girl. Von Brincken, who is a screen director, was German military attache to this country before the war. The Baron was formerly the husband of Mrs.
Milo Abercrombie of San Francisco. They were divorced during the war, when Von Brincken was interned under the espionage law.

Still in Tennessee Jail.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 23.—
An improvised still was found in the Knox County Jail. Officers, in making their rounds of inspection, found the apparatus and a quantity of grapes and wine. A prisoner said he was making the liquor for personal purposes.

Turks Close American Baby Clinic.
By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 23.—
The Turkish Government has closed the American baby clinic at Siambouli, which was under the patronage of Rear-Admiral Mark
L. Briston, American high commissioner, and maintained by funds from the United States. A committee of American women supervised the clinic. Turkish doctors made up the staff and Turkish babies were treated exclusively. The only reason given by the police was that the clinic lacked a Government permit to operate.

FLEEING CROWD BREAKS OUT ROADHOUSE WALL

Liquor Raiders at Cahokia Cause Panic Among 200 Negroes.

The roadhouse kept by Henry Hayes, in Cahokia, was virtually wrecked by 200 Negro customers who stampeded to the open air when five deputy sheriffs from East St. Louis raided the place at 3 a. m. yesterday.

A shot was fired when the raiders entered the door and the men and women there rose in a body. With the door blocked they fled through the windows and a section of the frame wall fell out as the crowd dashed against it. Tables and chairs were overturned and broken and an upright piano was tumbled over on its face by persons scrambling to a window behind.

From the wreckage the deputies gathered two women's shoes and a man's shoe, none of them mates, some poker chips, dice and three quarts of moonshine whisky. The fugitives either made their way to East St. Louis on foot or returned to claim their automobiles and were arrested. Forty-nine men and women were taken to East St. Louis and fined $5 each for disorderly conduct.

The roadhouse, well known as the "Red House" of pre-prohibition days, was raided because of many early morning automobile accidents in which Negroes figured on the four-mile stretch of concrete to East St. Louis.

Hayes was held under bond and warrants charging violation of the liquor law will be sought against him.

"WORLD'S WEALTHIEST INDIAN" RETURNS TO HOME FOR TRIAL

Taken Back to Oklahoma From Los Angeles to Face Contempt of Court Charge.

MUSKOGEE, Ok., Aug. 23.—Indicating a preference for tribal atmosphere rather than the white man's luxuries, Jackson Barnett, 76-year-old, wealthy Creek Indian, returned from Los Angeles last night in custody of a Deputy United States Marshal answer a charge of contempt of court. Barnett failed to appear in Federal Court here in connection with an investigation of his marriage to a white woman in 1921.

"I am glad to be back and I want to stay," Barnett said. "I want my horses brought back from California."

Barnett, known as the "world's wealthiest Indian," obtained a large sum of money from oil royalties on his Oklahoma farm. He married Anna Laura Lowe of Tulsa at Coffeyville, Kan., in 1921, after unsuccessful attempts to have the ceremony performed in Oklahoma. Numerous suits are pending in state and federal courts relative to the status of a $550,000 gift to his white wife as well as the donation of an equal amount to Bacone College here.

In addition to questioning the legality of the gifts, the Government charges Mrs. Barnett kidnapped the aged Creek from his home near Henryetta. Mrs. Barnett is understood to be en route here from Los Angeles, where she objected to her husband's arrest Friday, declaring ill health would not permit a long overland trip. Authorities indicated Barnett would not be held in jail pending his hearing, Aug. 27.

Senor Munoz is accompanied by his wife and son, Victor Munoz, who will matriculate as a pre-medical student in St. Louis University. ## Flavor is everything in breakfast oats

WHEN you find a person, especially a child, who "doesn't like oats," chances are they haven't tried the right kind.

Get Quaker Oats. Once you taste "Quaker" flavor, you are spoiled for ordinary oats.

That rich and tasty Quaker flavor is the result of some 50 years milling experience. No other oats approximate it.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. Thus those who eat Quaker Oats find laxatives seldom needed. Combines protein carbohydrates, vitamins and "bulk" in excellent proportions.

Costs the same as ordinary brands. You alone lose when you accept a substitute.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. Your grocer has it; also Quaker Oats as you have always known them.

Insist On This

Every one of us welcomes suggestions for our welfare—if they are advanced in a kindly manner and with sincerity. So introduce to her this topic concerning health protection and refinement.

DISEASE prevention is the most important doctrine in modern medicine. Science readily recognizes the advisability of thwarting disease before it starts.

The nose, as many of us are aware, is the gateway for most infectious diseases. Consequently nasal hygiene is of first importance if we are to prevent disease.

Nasal hygiene means daily nasal cleanliness. There is one way now whereby daily nasal cleanliness can be obtained with very little effort.

ARZEN applied in the nostrils night and morning, with the provided medicine dropper, results in thorough nasal cleanliness. Yet it only requires a moment.

The advantages are many. First, the nasal passages are cleared. Disease germs are routed. We breathe, deeper, better and more freely. The whole body benefits thereby.

There follows a pleasant sense of fastidious freshness and personal hygiene. One would no more leave off this daily custom than we would abandon the use of the tooth brush.

SPECIFIC USES
Arzen used daily prevents colds. Stops them if started. An excellent Hay Fever Relief. An aid in sinus trouble. Daily nasal cleanliness prevents infectious diseases. Keep the nose as clean as the face.

BRITAIN WILL PULL THROUGH, OPINION OF LORD BRADBURY

We Find That We Can't Pay Our War Debts, We Can Make Frank Confession, He Says.

MEANTIME CURRENCY IS SOUND AT PAR

And That of France, Who Hasn't Settled With U. S. Is Not—Financier Not Gloomy About Outlook.

BRADBURY is another of a series of articles on the financial and economic condition of Great Britain and continental Europe.

By EDWARD PRICE BELL, Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.

(Copyright, 1926.)

LONDON, Aug. 22.—"Whatever happens with regard to war debts, we think we shall be able to pull through. If we are wrong, we can make a frank confession and initiate discussions looking to the necessary relief."

This, in brief, is Lord Bradbury's view of the British situation, present and prospective. Bradbury, married, with Daves and Young in partnership, has been a close student of European and world finance for many years. He was joint permanent secretary to the British treasury during the World War.

When Daves and Young wrote their memoirs of the reparation struggle they will have more than one good story to tell of "Bradbury's habitual outspokenness, as well as of his acumen, seasoned judgment, almost boyish spirit and unflinching candor."

Bradbury, not gloomy, is gloom respecting Great Britain's condition and outlook has not fallen over the spirit of this economist and financier. "Our position is not bad, it is difficult," he says. "No man can speak with certain knowledge of the outcome. But we are not downhearted. We are grappling with our problems and determined to solve them by means of our own wit and resource. Britain, of the right sort, have no sympathy with our squealers, and will not succumb to their other suggestions from dignity."

Bradbury is not among those who condemn Prime Minister Baldwin's settlement of the British debt to the United States.

"It might or might not have been desirable for us to get rather better terms," he says. "But some kind of settlement was imperative. However, any considerable delay in the matter would have been injurious. Sinister agitation might have supervened with results, political and financial, not calculated, but undoubtedly fraught with unpleasant possibilities."

British Currency at Par.

To strike a balance sheet of the situation, Bradbury, from the British point of view, would involve imputations of prodigious proportions. If the task were performed by an all-wise deity.

But anyhow, the fact is patent that the world that Britain, having settled with the United States, has a currency at par with gold, whereas France, lacking such a settlement, has a currency floating in all but bottomless quicksand.

Lloyd George says the settlement was "the mistake." But Lloyd George is a politician out of office and not without appetite for further official power.

Bradbury frankly concedes that the funding of the debt to America benefited Britain in many directions. It removed once for all the menace of the depreciation of sterling. It reaffirmed and reestablished credit in every country in the world, and a flawless foundation of credit to Britain, with its close-gridding business and financial connections, an importance such as it has to probably no other nation in the whole continent of producing and trading power.

France is learning, as Germany learned in all the terrible months of the slump of the mark, that she can befall a people few can imagine so widely incident as the loss of the evaporation of the value of its money.

With the rise of the purchasing power of the pound sterling, if the British industry was forced to pay the price of an augmented monetary value, it was faced with a comparatively low interest rate and with a command for the manufacture of Britain of the same value as was the pound. Today a pound costs $4.87 1/2, with its value in hotel bills or goods not enhanced sufficiently to be appreciable.

Viewing the situation as a whole Bradbury is not dissatisfied nor is he despondent.

QUEEN MARIE BOBS HAIR TO BE STYLISH ON AMERICAN VISIT

Rumanian Ruler Doesn't Want to Look Old-Fashioned While Touring U. S.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

PARIS, Aug. 23.—Queen Marie of Rumania has had her hair cut so she would not look old-fashioned on her forthcoming visit to the United States. The story of the Queen's hair-cut in the first mention of her much-opposed trip in the Bucharest papers, the journey having been a forbidden subject heretofore.

The Queen is only waiting for King Ferdinand to complete his reconciliation with France in Paris, which is expected shortly. She already had decided that besides her youngest daughter, Elena, she will take her favorite sister, Princess Marie, who is the wife of Prince Alfonso of Orleans, a cousin of the King of Spain, to America with her.

COMPROMISE WITH SPAIN ON TANGIER HOPED FOR BY FRANCE

Madrid Wants to Extend Authority There to Check Plots Against Morocco.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—A compromise on the question of Tangier which will satisfy Spanish aspirations in that territory is now thought possible in official French circles.

Negotiations over the international territory thus far have been confined to unofficial talk between the French Charge d'Affaires and the Spanish Foreign Minister.

Spain demands an extension of her authority in Tangier, asserting that the long war in the Rif, which cost her 40,000 men and several billion pesetas, was prolonged by intrigues that had their origin in Tangier.

The opinion is held in French circles that satisfaction can be given in Spain on that point without modifying the status of Tangier as agreed upon by the accord signed by Great Britain, France and Spain. It is suggested that Spain might be permitted to appoint a Spaniard as head of the Tangier police instead of a neutral as at present. This would give Spain the authority needed for the control of the international organization of the city.

Premier Primo de Rivera recently was quoted in a Madrid newspaper as expressing the feeling that Tangier should be included in the Spanish zone in Morocco. Thereupon a member of the Fascist Cabinet in Italy announced that any solution of the Tangier question which did not include consideration of Italy's rights would be taken before the League of Nations.

U. S. AND FRENCH FINANCIERS TALK WITH MELLON AT EVIAN

Secretary of Treasury Also Frequently Sees Sir Robert Horne of Great Britain.

By the Associated Press.

EVIAN, France, Aug. 23.—Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York, Seymour Parker Gilbert Jr., agent general for reparation payments, and Theodore Roosevelt, former British Chancellor of the Exchequer, who frequently motors here from Aix-les-Bains and lunches or dines with Mellon, Field-Marshal Earl Haig is Mellon's opponent at golf almost all the time.

Mellon told the Associated Press that his conferences with financiers here had no significance. He expects to sail for the United States Sept. 11, probably visiting Paris and London after another week's stay in Evian.

Perry Belmont of New York and Mrs. Belmont last night gave a dinner at which Mellon, the French Senator Dupuy and Mme. Dupuy, the Duke and Duchess of Montmorency, the Countess de Chevaline and the Countess Montgomery were guests.

Mussolini's Brother a Blacksmith.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The Paris newspaper, Paris-Midi, publishes the following: In a small village of the Department of the Aisne, not far from Soissons, lives a humble blacksmith named Mussolini. When he is asked if he is related to the famous Italian Dictator, he merely smiles without giving a reply. As a matter of fact, he is the brother of the Italian Premier.

Estimates that this gain equals the amount Britain must pay annually under the Baldwin settlement with the United States.

U. S. Tourists Spend.

American tourists are supposed to bring to Europe each year about the equivalent of $350,000,000 ($1,750,000,000). What proportion of this money (perhaps 25 per cent) is spent in Britain is not known, but this is true: It now costs American and other visitors to this country a great deal more for their needs in sterling than it cost them while sterling was low. At one time $3.25 would buy a pound. Today a pound costs $4.87 1/2, with its value in hotel bills or goods not enhanced sufficiently to be appreciable.

CHARLES W. ELIOT, 40 YEARS HEAD OF HARVARD, DIES

Educator, Who Retired at 75, Succumbs to Linger- ing Illness at 92 While at Summer Home.

BECAME COLLEGE PRESIDENT AT 35

Was Outspoken on Public Questions and Recently Took Issue With Dr. Butler on Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.

NORTHEAST HARBOR, Me., Aug. 23.—Charles William Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, who had been its president for 40 years prior to his retirement at the age of 75, is dead. He was 92 years old.

He died peacefully yesterday at the home where he had spent the summer for years. His son, the Rev. Samuel A. Eliot of Cambridge, Mass., was with him at the end.

He had been feeble all summer and confined to the house, though up till a few years ago he rowed a boat, exercised at which he became adept in college days as a member of the university crew, and of the first Harvard athletic team for which crimson was adopted as the university color.

Until recently he had continued a lifelong habit of giving his views on public questions. He was in his nineties when he took issue with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, on the merits of prohibition. Dr. Eliot, revealing that he had become a teetotaler at the age of 83, praised the Volstead act.

There will be funeral services tomorrow afternoon at Appleton Chapel, Harvard University, on Wednesday.

College President at 35.

Born in Boston, he became president of Harvard at the age of 35 and lived to survive all but two of the 28 presidents of the United States who were his contemporaries. His administration was marked by development of the elective system, which since has been adopted extensively by other colleges.

In June, 1924, with Elihu Root and Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes he received the Roosevelt medal for his leadership of youth and development of American character.

Throughout his life he was an active participant in discussion of public affairs. Often his pronouncements made him a target for bitter personal attack.

His views were by no means inelastic, as was shown when after denouncing football in 1906, "as a spectacle more brutalizing than prizefighting, cock fighting or bull fighting," he later saw Harvard play Carlisle and praised improvement under changed rules.

Against Racial Discrimination.

When Harvard was considering race discrimination of candidates for admission he declared, "I am opposed to every form of racial discrimination in the universities of our heterogeneous democracy."

In a discussion on "religion of the future," he said: "The fear of hell has not proved effective to deter man from wrong doing, and heaven has never been described in terms very attractive to the average man or woman."

He aroused a storm in labor circles when he asserted that the "scab" is a good type of American hero and that "democracy must be profoundly distrustful of the labor union's too frequent effort to restrict the efficiency and output of the individual workman."

During the war he maintained "the hope of the world lies in complete co-operation between the British Empire and the United States."

Puritans found little favor with him. "They took the joy out of work and life," he once wrote.

Opposition to Liquor.

He was an ardent foe of liquor and predicted there would be no modification of the Volstead Act, "in the wrong direction."

He caused a stir when he said: "Whoever is familiar with the genealogies of the New England families that have come down from the seventeenth century knows that the extinction of those families has been the abuse of intoxicating liquors by their young men."

His stand on the immigration question was summed up as follows: "We were all foreigners a little while ago."

His recipe for longevity was a "sound constitution never impaired by any serious disease or accident, a calm temperament expectant of good, the habit of taking daily exercise in open air, moderation in eating."

Exercise should be taken regularly, though always in moderation, he advised. "One of the chief objections I have to the competitive

Harvard's President Emeritus, Dead in Maine at Age of 92

DR. CHARLES W. ELIOT.

Last of St. Louis War Dead Buried With Military Rites

Body of Private E. E. Hile Returned From Grave in Argonne Wood in France After Nearly Eight Years.

Carried behind furled colors to the leaden test of muffled drums, the body of Private Edward E. Hile of the 34th Infantry, Eighty-ninth Division, last of the war dead of St. Louis to be returned to the city, was buried yesterday afternoon in Memorial Park Cemetery with military ceremonies.

It is almost eight years since Hile fell in battle at the opening of the Argonne offensive. At that time his comrades, moving up rapidly through the woods, only had time to place his body in a hastily dug grave. Forgotten and grass-grown, his grave on the bank of the Meuse was not discovered until last June.

Services yesterday began at an undertaking establishment at 2125 Lafayette avenue, where the Rev. R. Y. Barber of Central, at, acting rector of the Episcopal church of the Holy Communion, presided. In lieu of a sermon, the Rev. Mr. Barber read a poem, "The Supreme Sacrifice."

It was written by C. L. Harris, an Englishman, and was taken to this country by Bishop John C. Freeland at the national Episcopal convention in 1919 and later to be sung as a hymn at the burial of the Unknown Soldier. Since then it has been adopted officially for the Episcopal hymn. The text of the poem follows:

Oh valiant hearts, who in your glory came, Through dust and blood and death, to find the frame, Transcending all your knightly virtues, and your memory hallowed in the land you loved.

Proudly you gathered rank on rank to war, As you had heard of God's message from afar, All you had heard for, all you had come to save mankind, yourself you scorned to save.

Remember you passed the great reward made, Into the light that never more shall fade, Deep your contentment in that blessed abode, Who wait the last clear trumpet call of God.

Long years ago, as earth lay dark and still, once brought a storm about his head by a spirited defense of Mormons.

Father a Harvard Trustee.

Dr. Eliot was the son of Samuel A. Eliot of Cambridge, Mass., who was treasurer of Harvard. He was born in Boston, March 28, 1834, and graduated from Harvard in 1853.

In college he stood among the first in his class. His predilection was for chemistry and mathematics, for the former that at the age of 24 he became a professor of chemistry at Harvard in preference to accepting $5000 a year as chemist for manufacturing concern in Lowell.

He was rapidly advanced until he was offered him the highest chair in the institution.

As president, the young Eliot set afoot so many reforms that Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes exclaimed: "He is turning the university over like a flapjack."

The educational reforms which he fathered include the lecture courses as substitutes for recitations, and the written test as substitute for oral examinations; the abolition of compulsory religious

FOOD SUPPLIES SCARCE IN PARIS CENTRAL MARKETS

Prices Announced by Government Drew 70 Women to One Place to Buy 30 Chickens.

WHOLESALE TRIES TO CORNER SUPPLY

Women Drive Him Away With Umbrellas — Private Dealers Expected to Cut Prices.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The first official communiqué in France's new war against high prices took women to the poultry section of the central markets yesterday to compete for about 30 chickens. Some of the housewives fell back on lobster or other sea food, but even then there were more buyers than provisions.

The market officials say, however, that the experiment promised good results because the arrivals were below normal in everything but vegetables. The official market communiqué is intended to inform the people just what provisions have arrived, the quantity and the quality. The public is notified that all quantities remaining unsold when the wholesale dealing is over will be offered for sale at retail.

The effect hoped for is suppression of the old habit of storing all provisions unsold to wholesalers so as not to gorge the market and affect prices.

The wholesalers made a feeble effort to beat the new regulations. One big dealer rushed to the poultry section while the women were struggling to get one of the few chickens offered and cried out: "I will take the whole lot."

"You will, will you?" shouted the women. "That was enough for the dealer, who escaped just in time to avoid the many umbrellas raised threateningly against him."

More is expected from these market reforms than from the new bread regulations. The total amount of Parisian housewives may save by buying at the central markets will never be large but the little they do buy, it is expected, will have an enormous influence in all the cities. The hearing down of prices in Paris means lower prices elsewhere.

The buyers of fruit at the markets saved about 30 per cent as compared with street and shop prices. When the women of Paris are encouraged by the fact that differences they may be counted on, market officials say, to see that the influence of this is felt by all dealers.

The regulations tending to encourage consumption of stale bread, some of the bakers admit, will decrease consumption but not so much as the uninitiated surmise, for the regulations preventing night work in the bakeries already have reduced the consumption of fresh bread.

Everyone agrees, however, that all the measures proposed by the Government will be useful in helping to discipline the consumer and curb the appetites of the dealers.

CARM THOMPSON IN MINDANAO

By the Associated Press.

CAYAGAN, Mindanao, Aug. 23.—Continuing his survey of the economic and political conditions along the north shore of the island of Mindanao, Carmi A. Thompson, President Coolidge's personal representative, yesterday listened to protests of Filipinos against the separation of the Philippines into two groups under the provisions of the Bacon bill now pending in Congress. Many native houses displayed placards which read, "Bacon bill would destroy the unity of the archipelago."

Col. Thompson has been unable to confer with Moros to learn their wishes. Northeastern Mindanao is populated largely by Christian Filipinos. The pagan tribes live in mountains inaccessible to Col. Thompson's party.

It was due largely to Dr. Eliot's strictures on football as a demoralizing spectacle and unfit for college sport that the open play reforms were carried out a few years ago.

At 77, Dr. Eliot took a trip around the world "to study." In Ceylon, in December, 1911, he was operated on for appendicitis, but notwithstanding his age he regained his full vigor.

He was tall, a dignified figure, with well-polished head, grave face, a glow in his cheeks and kindly eyes. President Taft once playedfully said of him: "He is as well preserved as though he had spent his years in the atmosphere of the Supreme Court."

President Roosevelt, who was once talked of as his possible successor, Harvard once said: "He is the only man in the world I envy."

2 EX-GOVERNORS OPPOSE FEDERAL AID FOR FARMER

McKelvie of Nebraska and Allen of Kansas Question Wisdom of Political Cures.

SAYS IOWA'S PLIGHT IS RESULT OF BOOM

See No Legislative Remedy — Help From Government "May Make Mende- cants of Citizens."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Two former Republican Governors, Henry Allen of Kansas and Samuel R. McKelvie of Nebraska, question the wisdom of political cures for agricultural ills in articles appearing in the September issue of the nation's business, official organ of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Allen declares that conditions in Iowa are not typical of those elsewhere and cites specific examples of prosperity among farmers in Kansas, while McKelvie says he is not one of those who believe that unless the strong arm of the Government intervenes, the farmer is headed for the bow-wow.

The present condition of the Iowa farmer, says Allen, is not the result of "poor crops and bad prices," but "is the reaction from a giant speculation in real estate," which cannot be cured by law.

"There is no legislative remedy for a deluged boom," he asserts, adding that time necessary for readjustment "is nature's only remedy."

The disposition of the surplus, says McKelvie, is "indeed an important problem for the farmer to solve, and the sooner we get it mean exactly that. It may be expedient for the Government to try to solve, but it certainly is not sound economically. The most the Government can do is help the farmer to help himself, by bearing in mind that when the sovereignty is violated the citizen becomes a dependent, a mendicant, or, what is worse, a member of the communistic state."

"This farming is a business," he adds, "and the sooner we farmers find it out, the sooner we will get our share of the national income."

ASSERTS SICKNESS COSTS U. S. $2,000,000,000 A YEAR

Statistician Says Spending $2 Per Capita Would Increase Living Capital by $600,000,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 23.—Sickness costs the people of the United States more than $2,000,000,000 a year in lost wages and medical bills, and premature death a sum equally large, the Institution of Politics was told today by Louis I. Dublin, Ph. D., statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Less than 50 cents per capita, or about $80,000,000 is expended each year on public health work, only a part of which amount is directed to the prevention of disease," he said. "This is altogether inadequate."

"Expert opinion is that an expenditure of $2 per capita wisely directed against the preventable diseases and for health education would reduce the annual death rate two points per 1000 and correspondingly increase the expectation of life possible for full years."

The value of a single year of life is estimated at $100 at least. The addition of five years to the length of life of the 117,000,000 Americans would add $600,000,000,000 to the value of living capital of the United States."

BISHOP JOHNSON PRAISES SCIENCE IN NEW YORK SERMON

"We Move, Plan and Develop Through the Faculty of Faith," Says St. Louis Prelate.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Bishop Frederick Foote Johnson of St. Louis, head of the Episcopal diocese of Missouri, preached yesterday in St. Bartholomew's Church here. He paid tribute to the faith of scientists, which has caused them to make their dreams into reality, and has made the world's advance possible. Speaking of the lately perfected forces of radio communication, he said: "All these are simply the unseen forces of a limitless unseen universe in which we live. Should we not, then, give more thought—practical men though we may be—to the unseen spiritual power? All the power of this unseen universe has been brought to us through the faith of dreamers. We move, plan and develop through the faculty of faith."

MUNICIPAL OPERA SEASON'S RECEIPTS BROKE RECORD

Attendance for 12 Weeks, 539,750, Also Set New High Mark, Despite In- auspicious Weather.

11,000 PERSONS SEE LAST PERFORMANCE

Greatest Drawing Card Was "Ill Trovatore," With Largest Week Next to "Merry Widow."

Both attendance and receipts records were broken by the eighth season of the Municipal Opera, which closed last night. The total attendance was 539,750 and the receipts $348,996.

The attendance was $2,021 larger than last year, with a 12 weeks' season also; the receipts were $31,215 larger. The opera for the seventh consecutive season was self-sustaining. The profit has not been computed.

The closing was before a capacity audience of 11,000—the fourth consecutive capacity night—and several hundred were unable to get standing room.

Though only three of the 54 scheduled performances were abandoned entirely, the weather generally was considered inauspicious. During the first six weeks there were many cold nights, and the latter part of the season was marred by sultry and threatening nights which held down the attendance.

The largest attendance and receipts were during the sixth week, when "Il Trovatore," the only grand opera in the repertoire, was given. That week was the second largest in the history of the opera, being exceeded only by "The Merry Widow" in 1923. "Il Trovatore" drew 41,935 persons in reserved seats and a grand total of $15,626.75. Reckoning attendance 1600 is arbitrarily added each night to represent the attendance in the free seats. Frequently the number witnessing the opera on whom there can be no accurate check is larger than 1600.

The poorest attendance was for "Fra Diavolo." The figures for each of the weeks follow:

"Eileen," receipts $24,324; attendance, 25,887.

"The Red Mill," $31,266.75; 32,769.

"The Chocolate Soldier," $32,658.25; 41,266.

"The Spring Maid," $29,557.75; 33,017.

"The Pink Lady," $32,846; 39,191.

"Il Trovatore," $35,620.75; 41,935.

"Sweethearts," $33,967; 40,620.

"Iolanthe," $28,620.75; 29,808.

"Count of Luxembourg," $27,964.50; 31,537.

"Woodland," $22,909.25; 27,665.

"Fra Diavolo," $20,891; 24,845.

"Babes in Toyland," $31,345.25; 40,769.

EDDY DEBATES EXISTENCE OF GOD WITH RUSSIAN; LOSES

First Time Foreigner Has Been Permitted by Soviet to Speak on Such a Subject.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Aug. 23.—Sherwood Eddy, lecturer for the Y. M. C. A., who has been conducting a group of American tourists around Russia, debated publicly yesterday with Michael Reissner, professor of law in Moscow University, and with the editor of the Bolshevik antireligious publication "The Godless One," on the existence of God.

This was the first time any foreigner has been permitted to speak on such a subject in soviet Russia, and there is general surprise that an American should have preached religion in a country, the Government of which is avowedly antireligious.

Although the existing laws forbid teaching of religion to anybody under 18 years of age, Eddy told his 8000 Russian auditors that he was pleasantly surprised to find there was real liberty of religious worship in Russia. The audience, which was preponderantly atheistic, expressed its decision on the debate by giving the bulk of the applause to the Russian speakers.

MacMillan Heading for Home.

By the Associated Press.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 23.—The expedition headed by Lieutenant Commander Donald B. MacMillan which sailed from Wiscasset, Me., on June 19 to search for a lost Norse colony in the sub-Arctic is off the coast of Labrador, homeward bound according to a wireless message received here. The vessel reported all on board the vessel were well.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

"Be Friends of the Forests."

IT WAS with a great deal of interest that I read your excellent editorial entitled "Be a Friend of the Forests," appearing in your evening issue of Aug. 18. It is gratifying indeed to have a great metropolitan newspaper, such as yours, assist in the great work of forest conservation; particularly in Missouri where such a movement is so sorely needed and where the preservation of forests has been so neglected.

May I also acknowledge the credit that you give the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo for their activities in the furtherance of this movement.

Yours very truly,
T. C. WHITMARSH JR.,
Vicegerent Snark, Southeast Missouri District.

Exterminate the Rats.

TWO children bitten by rats on one day and the possible population of 10,000,000 of rats does not look so good alongside of the much boasted advantages of St. Louis as a metropolitan business and residence center. Has our Health Department, too, joined in the City Hall political faction fight for control of the city government? How long will the people of St. Louis remain the damphool bystanders?

T. J. SMITH.

The Senatorial Contest.

THE "E-ELITE" them "and them" "E-ELITE" We read these signs everywhere since the recent primary and before. In some instances office holders have done well, and deserve to be re-elected or advanced. Mr. Hawes, for example, has devoted his life to a study of conditions, and declared himself in favor of liberty and modification of the nefarious liquor law that has caused so much discord. He is specially fitted to represent the people and was elected by the people, not appointed by our Government.

The question is not one of politics but really representative men, who will care for Missouri's welfare in the Senate. While we may have regard for Mr. Williams as a gentleman, we can point with pride to both Senator Jim Reed and Harry B. Hawes for real service, as both have the courage of conviction, and do not fear to express themselves. We want a popular vote for the best man, and Harry B. Hawes has proven worthy and can be depended upon.

Commercializing the Flag.

IF the Ambassador Theater is not technically violating the Federal law in draping the American flag over its advertisements on the lamp posts, it is in effect violating its intent. The sensibilities of citizens are shocked at this commercializing of the stars and stripes and the promoters are liable to lose more in good will than they will gain in advertising.

Negro-Financed Theater for Negroes.

SEVERAL days ago I noticed in your paper a letter from a Negro St. Louisian wanting to know why provision was not made in the leading St. Louis Theaters, such as the Missouri, Loew's State and St. Louis, for the better class of Negroes? And it seems to me that Mr. Negro St. Louisian is asking for a corner in these houses where he could go and be jim-crowed. I do not want to go where I am not wanted. Why don't Negro men pool their monies together and put up a decent play house of their own? There is enough money in the race to do it. Do you ever read of Jews begging the white man for anything?

ONE WHO LOVES HER RACE.

Who Pays for Olive Street, and Why?

MR. ORCUTT of Olive street raises aesthetic objections to the "Parkway plan." Does he question its utility? If this improvement were being made solely for the benefit of Olive street property owners, they would be paying the whole cost. As a matter of fact, they are paying less than one-quarter of the cost, and the people of St. Louis are paying the other 75 per cent. in order to improve their means of getting to and from the business district; 75 per cent of the people using the street will ride the street cars. The contemplated neutral strip is to be 23 feet wide, while the street is to be 100 feet wide from building to building. It certainly is equitable that 75 per cent of the people who pay 75 per cent of the cost are entitled to the exclusive use of less than 25 per cent of the street if it will take them to and bring them home from their work safer and faster.

Mr. Orcutt, if the widening of Olive street had been a beautification project it would have died aborning.

RIVERS OF GOLD.

Mr. Hoover was at top stride in his discussion of river development at Seattle. He did not advocate it merely as a desirable thing. He presented it as imperative. The proposition is no longer optional; it is compulsory. He explained why in a variety and abundance of facts.

He was not talking about today. He was looking ahead—but not so very far ahead. For instance, he predicted that, within ten years, we shall be stimulating agricultural production. That is a daring prophecy at a time when the farmer is so harassed by his surplus product that he is importuning the Government to help him get rid of it. But Hoover calmly asserts that, in ten years, we shall have 40,000,000 more people in the United States and that this population will require more than our present agricultural lands will yield.

So for that reason alone river development must be undertaken in order to reclaim the lands, estimated at 30,000,000 acres, which are now idle. Reclamation, however, is but one phase of river development. The first utility of the rivers is transportation. In the Mississippi basin alone, comprising the Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Illinois Rivers, we have a navigation system of 9000 miles which will serve 20 states and can be developed and made operative for $125,000,000.

What will such a system do? It will knock down the "toll gates erected around those states by the high railroad rates necessitated by the war." Because of these high railroad rates the farmers are at a disadvantage with competing countries that enjoy pre-war rates. The rivers will give the farmers barges as showing what the rivers can do for bulk commodities. He quotes this interesting comparative statement of costs for freighting 1000 bushels of wheat 1000 miles as "demonstrated by actual rates current today:

By lake and ocean steamers from $ 20 to $ 30
By river barges..... 60 to 70
By rail..... 150 to 200

But what of the railroads? Does river development threaten their prosperity? Not a whit more than it threatens the farmer's future with its reclamation program.

Here are some figures on that point: Our traffic has grown in 25 years from 114 billion ton miles to 414 billion ton miles—or more than tripled. In another quarter of a century, at a much less rate of increase that volume will be doubled. How are we going to move it? Can we build railroad facilities to do it? The cost would be prohibitive—especially the cost of terminals because of the tremendous increase in land values. The rivers, with "their continuous terminals spread along the whole waterfronts of our towns, go far to solve the problem of increased terminals and crowded streets."

And there is that touchstone of present and future industry—our greatest undeveloped resource—hydro-electric power. We have 55,000,000 horsepower in our inland waters, only 11,000,000 of which has been developed. With this force harnessed and put to work by the development of our rivers we shall be on the way to the fulfillment of our economic and social destiny.

Such is the prospectus submitted by our Secretary of Commerce. It is a striking instrument. In its facts and conclusions it reveals the research and logic of the engineer. In its conception and the methods proposed for carrying out the stupendous enterprise it embodies the vision of the statesman in which the rivers of water become rivers of gold.

FRAUD IN CAP AND BELLS.

Will our dignified Election Commissioners be able to listen with straight faces to the learned counsel for Messrs. Gray and Boggy, when he appears to argue their petitions for a recount of the Eleventh District Republican primary vote, filed Saturday?

As counsel for Gray, the attorney will argue that his client was defrauded of votes for the benefit of Henri Chouteau, the nominee. But for his other client, Boggy, he will have to charge that fraud was committed in behalf of both Chouteau and Gray. In behalf of Gray, he will present figures showing that Gray had the highest number of votes, 7101, that Chouteau was second, and that Boggy had only 4933. But speaking for Boggy, he will then have to set forth that "in truth and in fact" Boggy got 6331 votes, and Gray only 6301, with Chouteau third. All these allegations are set forth in the two petitions, prepared by the same legal hand.

St. Louisans generally believe that they are getting clean elections. Such allegations as those of the Gray-Boggy piscatorial expedition will not shake that belief very seriously.

AN ENDLESS WARFARE.

Insects are unrelenting in their conquest of the earth. They destroy forests, crops and orchards. They spread disease among humans and animals. They cross mountains and oceans to invade new lands. Of marvelous fecundity, their myriad numbers swarm across the earth to take heavy toll from every land. Some scientists foresee their ultimate victory, but others turn to the conflict with greater confidence.

Birds help humanity in this endless competition, and deserve consideration due delightful allies. Nor are the insects in accord; some prey on others, and help to check this plague. Yet men must rely on their own resources of defense in large measure, and it is in this that science holds hope of ultimate triumph. Insecticide and fungicide are given much study by Government experts.

These patient warriors of peace have developed a calcium arsenate formula that holds promise of conquering the boll weevil. They have devised a poison gas, fatal to flies, but harmless to higher animals. They have made progress in fighting the chinch bugs that prey on our grain crops. They distribute arsenic to war upon the fungi so damaging to our orchards. They are commanders in an attack on sweeping that the multitudinous nature of our insect enemies becomes somewhat less terrifying.

There are no medals and little fame for those who make this war. The world does not cultivate the acquaintance of science to any marked extent. But there should be appreciation and more co-operation than there is. But that should come with time. People generally have learned the danger of house flies, and how to be rid of them. Mosquito hatches are oiled and yellow fever is eliminated and malaria reduced. Practical orchardists do not neglect to spray their trees. Some protection is provided for livestock and for crops. It is a long fight, perhaps an endless fight, but human reinforcements will grow as they are needed.

THE ILLINOIS ECLIPSE.

Now that the country is waking up to what happened in the Illinois primaries, we see little in the public prints any more of what happened in Pennsylvania.

In truth, what happened in Illinois is quite a different thing. No more portentous thing presents itself in American politics. The Pennsylvania primary was a three-cornered contest among millionaires. One of them had the tariff money of Pennsylvania behind him, but it was still a race among three millionaires.

The Illinois primary was far more sinister than that. It was an incident in which the great electrical utilities swept the people aside and took over the selection of a candidate for the Senate. Everybody sees this quite clearly now. It was as if in the Missouri primaries the Frisco and the Missouri Pacific railroads had decided the matter between them and thrust the rest of us out.

It was not a coincidence that the nominee in the Illinois primaries was also chairman of the commission which fixes electrical rates in Illinois. That is what politics in Illinois have come to. The American people have been warned for almost 50 years that our great industrial development would come to exactly this if we did not establish safeguards against it. How feeble those defenses were the Illinois primary shows. "I have an interest to protect," says Samuel G. Insull, electrical magnate, justifying his debauchery of the ballot.

But the people have a much greater interest to protect. That is why the Illinois primaries are being so widely discussed and why we hear no more of what happened in Pennsylvania. The Illinois primaries struck at the keystone of our political structure. The greatest experiment ever made in democracy will fail if the ballot can be prostituted.

Fortunately, the country sees this. It is already moving against it. If the Senate dares seat the man sent to it by corporate interests in Illinois there will not be a man who so voted worth the wrath of the people will spare. Illinois, meanwhile, does nothing. She is too fast in the clutches of the big business interests which have brought her to this plight.

But she is a rotten apple in the national barrel, and the barrel means to save itself.

THE Y. M. C. A.'S REVENGE.

When Sherwood Eddy, an international Y. M. C. A. worker, committed that most deadly sin against 100-per-cent Americanism, viz.: when he praised soviet Russia, we knew that retribution would be swift and sure. We were not wrong.

On the heels of his statement that "soviet Russia stands as a challenge to nations swollen by selfish capitalism" comes an explanatory one from William Francis, president of the Chicago Y. M. C. A. Francis declares that the Y. M. C. A. should not be held responsible for what Eddy, one of its members and not its spokesman, says. Let that be clear. Then he analyzes Eddy: "Mr. Eddy is wealthy and a volunteer Y. M. C. A. worker. He has the temperament of an evangelist. His views are dictated by his emotions and not by his reason."

Will Sherwood Eddy take that? Will he go 'way back and sit down? If he continues to say horrifying things, the Y. M. C. A. will take his button from him and bar him from his swimming pools.

PATRIOTISM IN KANSAS.

Patriotism in Kansas has hardly differed from patriotism anywhere else. It has been just patriotism of the type thousands of years old, the same urge that Marco Bozzaris felt and inducing at last precisely the exaltation in which Leonidas died.

But as the laboratory of American politics, the crucible in which all new formulas find themselves, this doesn't suit Kansas. She must be a little something added. John J. Ingalls was a little something added to the average orator in the Senate. William Allen White is a country editor plus. Even Jerry Simpson, who would have made Kansas famous without either "Wild Bill" Hickok or "Bat" Masterson, was not a mere populist. He was a super such, just as Carrie Nation was an extra dory.

So must patriotism in Kansas be. It must not be what Nebraska has, or Missouri, but a little something beside. Kansas shouting "Give me liberty or give me death!" must say it louder than Patrick Henry did. Kansas singing "My country 'tis of thee!" must sing it with more gusto than most people do.

But you will ask how people can be so surcharged with patriotism? Can it be done by having them read the Pecksniffian laws of Kansas? Great heavens, no! In the front of every Kansas school book there is to be hereafter a full page reproduction in colors of what Barbara Frietchie did for us. There will rise in imagery from the Stars and Stripes the shivering troops at Valley Forge. There will ring out of that page the laughter of John Paul Jones shouting "Surrender! I have just begun to fight!"

So there you are.

SHAKES.

Referring to the tariff, Senator Capper of Kansas says that all the agricultural West wants is "a fair shake with the East." From the rest of his remarks, we infer that he means a shake-down of the consumer. What the farmer needs is a shake-up in Congress that will shake down the excessive rates of the Fordney-McCumber Act.

THE FRANKING ABUSE.

Senator Willis of Ohio is mentioned as one of the heaviest users of the franking privilege in these pre-election days. The Postoffice Department is staggering under the load of windy effusions which the Senator is broadcasting to his constituents. Since we all support the Postoffice Department, and it is at considerable expense to advance Senator Willis' candidacy, this is a subject of general interest.

Speaking of broadcasting, Senator Willis was a loud speaker long before the radio came in. Ever since he entered public life, the State of Ohio has been drenched with the verbs, adjectives and nouns which have poured in unending stream from his throat. He is one of the foremost exponents of the early Grant school of elocution, and they say he can open his mouth in Cincinnati and make the welkin ring in Cleveland.

We suppose Senator Willis has made more speeches than Demosthenes, Cicero and Burke put together. We have no statistics on the burden he has placed upon the Government printers since he has been in Congress, but it must be a tremendous one. And now the accumulated verbiage, reduced to type, must be handled free by the postoffice.

LINES AT PARTING.

I know I swore I loved you, sweet; my vows were all sincere.

I would that we could dare to wed, but such a course were rash;
I'd hold you "forever" and I'll always hold you dear;

One thing alone prevents the match, and that's no lack of cash.

I mind as well my ardent kisses on your rosy cheek;
There is no need that we should fight, but when you're gone, I'll seek;

And though we cannot wed, my love, I trust we part good friends.

Do not repine, oh lovely lass; you cheered my lonely life;

My memories of hours with you I'll cherish till I die;
Forget, sweet miss, your lover, for you'll never be my wife;

You say I wrong you doing thus; you'd know the reason why?

You fail you would know the reason for my sudden change of mind;
You falsely say I'm fickle, dear; I leave with no regrets.

I will confess your failing, sweet; my love is far from blind—
I'm hanged if I could ever like your choice in cigarettes.

WELL, WE HAVE HEARD OF PEOPLE SWIMMING IN TRUNKS.

Furman Wins Breast Stroke Swim. Furman, Forest Park Highlands' outstanding natator, showed an unusual burst of speed to walk away with the 200-yard breast stroke. Furman's time of 3 minutes, 32.10 seconds beat the old time by 3 seconds. Harry Baringer, who broke the record in 1925, watched Furman dash to victory in civilian clothes.—Globe-Democrat.

A SINISTER PLOT.

When we read that the latest in suspenders had pictures on them, we were unimpressed. "Such," said we, "will not lure us from our trusty belt." But we reckoned without the tailors. Our work requires that we sit down a lot. If it did not, we would either sit down anyway or find work more congenial to our desire to rest. While sitting is a pleasant exercise, the effects soon show on the broadest part of the trousers.

As a result, every now and then we have to have our coat matched. We generally secure a wet match—that is, one which is not very striking, but we take our coat off and no one knows the difference. 'Twas on the last pair of matchless trousers we purchased that we discovered the plot—they have suspender buttons on them. For the first time since we assumed civilian ways after having won the war, our trousers are equipped with suspenders. And we did not order them that way! We are Irish by birth, but Scotch by instinct; rather than have those buttons wasted (excuse the pun) we'll buy a pair of suspenders. But young men and men who stay young; men who cannot tolerate suspenders—we declare ourselves boldly, emphatically and persistently, we soon will be wearing suspenders. Leave the ladies alone for a time—they will wear what they want to, anyway. Concentrate on this crusade! Write letters to the paper! Above all, tell your tailor finally and unequivocally not to sew on suspender buttons!

The Germans are the only people in Europe who really like us. It would appear that with nations as with men, nothing ceases later friendship like a fight, and that the best way to lose friends is to lend them money or help them in a pinch.

Williamson County, Illinois, is in the midst of a religious revival. Getting them to go to heaven is not only more commendable than sending them there, but it does not need the aid of the militia.

BIRTH OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE

From the Montreal Star.

THREE HUNDRED AND FORTY-THREE years ago this month, in a sheltered bay which today is the harbor of St. John's, Newfoundland, the founders of the great world structure of the British Empire, Sir Humphrey Gilbert and his brother-in-law, Walter Raleigh, were laid to rest on Aug. 5 of 1583 took possession of the island of Newfoundland, with due ceremony, in the presence of the English, French and Portuguese vessels in the harbor, and the commission granted him by the great seal of England by Queen Elizabeth I. There was surely some prophetic presentiment in the promise by "the Queen's excellent majesty" of "many great and large royalties, liberties and privileges" in Spain, France and Portugal had all the great imperial possessions overseas.

WIDENING OF OLIVE STREET CLAIMS UNIONS' MEETING HALL

Last Session Prior to Razing Structure Held Sunday By Central Trades Body.

The hall at 222 Olive street, for years the meeting place of several trade unions and headquarters of Central Trades and Labor Union was formally abandoned yesterday following the bi-monthly meeting of the central body, and will be wrecked to make way for the widening of Olive street.

This hall housed the offices and was the meeting place for the Street Car Men's Union, Steamfitters' Union and the unions of teamsters, ice men and milk wagon drivers. David Kreyling, secretary of Central Trades and Labor Union, also had his offices there.

The central body has taken up headquarters at Unity Hall, Grand and Page Boulevards. The teamsters' organizations also will meet at Unity Hall. Only routine business was transacted yesterday by the central body.

AIRPLANE RACE FOR CIVILIANS

Dozen Events Scheduled for National Contest in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—A dozen different events will make up the national air race this year. This aerial carnival, larger than ever before, is to be held here as a part of the Sesqui-centennial celebration the week of Sept. 4 to 11. As an aftermath of the controversy stirred up last year by the New York World's disclosure that all civilian planes had been barred from the Detroit News air transport trophy race and the event was made a "military only" contest, it has been limited strictly to privately owned aircraft. Another race, however, has been arranged for the Army, Navy and Marine Corps bombing pilots, in whose favor it was alleged civilians were "frozen out."

Child Badly Burned By Coffee.

Nellie, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell of 2020 South Second street, was badly burned by hot coffee yesterday when a table collapsed as she seized a loose leg in trying to climb to a high chair. The coffee poured over her head as the table overturned.

THE NEW SOUTHWESTERN SYSTEM

A union of three great railway systems of the Southwest THE KANSAS CITY SOUTHERN, the MISSOURI-KANSAS-TEXAS and the ST. LOUIS SOUTHWESTERN RAILWAYS

APPLICATION has been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to weld the lines of The Kansas City Southern Railway Company, the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Company and the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company into a transportation system in conformity with the general plan previously announced. Approval of this application will be a distinct advantage to all interests of the Great Southwest and to the public generally.

The proposed new Southwestern System extends from Kansas City, St. Louis and Memphis, south, gridironing the extensive territory between these cities and the Gulf. Entrance is provided to all the principal cities of the Southwest and to the ports of Houston, Galveston, Texas City and the Sabine District, including Port Arthur, Beaumont, Lake Charles, Orange, Neches and Sabine. At Kansas City, St. Louis and Memphis, it affords connections with the major trunk lines from the east, west and north.

Only by combining could these companies meet effectively the competition of the other consolidated systems in this region, while strength is given by continuing the active interest of men who have long operated the properties. A unified system, specifically adapted to the transportation requirements of the Southwestern territories, can better serve the need of its communities than could several independent and disconnected railways. The operation of these three lines as a transportation system means improved and expedited service.

Because the trade territories tributary to the three lines overlap and supplement each other, opportunity for savings in transportation charges and in the operation of terminals is afforded. Problems of rate regulation may be simplified, freight routes shortened in time and in distance, and the efficient movement of both passengers and freight expedited.

The Southwestern territory, extending roughly from the Mississippi River to the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and from the Gulf of Mexico to St. Louis and Kansas City, is rapidly growing in population and wealth, and in all forms of agricultural, mineral, industrial and commercial activities. This wide-spreading territory, an empire in itself, nearly as large as all of Europe without Russia, needs at least one transportation system whose interests are its own and whose commercial and civic objectives are unreservedly identical. To this end, the bringing together of these three properties has been deemed amply justified, after much thought and study.

The Kansas City Southern-Katy-Cotton Belt combination forms a strictly Southwestern system, keeping within the general limits as defined by the map shown above and putting forth constantly increasing efforts to meet adequately the growing transportation requirements of the Southwest. Lastly, the unified system will be a determining factor in the preservation of the identity of the Southwestern territory as an integral trade area, and in the protection and enlargement of existing channels of trade and commerce.

Californian Plays Major lory for Title quished by Miss V Both Have Beaten

By the Associated Press. FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—The only American woman to win the title since she was a child, Miss Helen Wills, was defeated yesterday by Miss Elizabeth Ryan, a Californian, in the final round of the tournament for which Miss Wills could not appear.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, a Californian, but resident of England, was a many quarters to defeat Molla B. Mallory to defend the title. Only once before did Miss Ryan appear in the National Tennis Championships, when she was eliminated by an Englishwoman, Kathleen McKane Godfree, in the final round.

There are rumors that C. Pyle, manager of Red and Suzanne Lenglen, will check for $100,000 to the winner of the title this year. If true, professional and amateur tennis would be a tour de force.

Mrs. Mallory has decided to play against professionals, but Miss Ryan, whose name has been linked with stories of the French star's action, is noncommittal.

The match was scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Standard time.

Reds Forced to Play 36 Innings in Three Games
Team Wins Two and Ties One Against Braves in Hectic Series.
By the Associated Press.
St. Louis is only a trifle behind Pittsburgh today for the lead of the National League. Four place decimals were necessary to tell the story of Pittsburgh's lead.
Cincinnati, using Donohue, Lucas, May and Luque, took a double-header from Boston, 4 to 3 and 7 to 6. The first contest went 10 innings and the second 12. On Saturday the teams played 14 innings to a 2-2 tie. Therefore, Cincinnati has played 36 frames to win two games from the stubborn Braves. The victories put the Reds one full game behind the leaders.
Chicago's Cubs and Guy Bush also accomplished some record baseball. The team turned in 23 assists in beating Brooklyn, 3 to 0, and Bush pitched his twenty-first successive scoreless inning. He has allowed only nine hits in his last 27 frames.
No More Sunday Games.
"Big Moose," Clabough of Tyler in the East Texas League, hit his sixty-first homer of the season, bettering the record of Tony Lazzeri, now with the Yankees. Babe Ruth leads the American League in circuit drives with 29, and Hack Wilson of Chicago, the National with 18.
Philadelphia has gained a new prominence in reports with a heavyweight boxing bout added to its Sesquicentennial celebration and a baseball game played on Sunday without police interference.
According to Connie Mack there will be no more Sunday baseball this season because of schedule difficulties, but that of yesterday, when his team defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2, was a success except for a drizzle which fell throughout. Mack was armed with an injunction and Lefty Grove with curves and good control.
Cleveland's Indians, heading for New York for another crucial series with the Yankees, stopped long enough at the national capital to down the Senators twice, 19 to 2 and 6 to 0.
ONLY 15 HOME RUNS IN MAJOR LEAGUE CONTESTS LAST WEEK
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Major league pitchers all but spiked the effectiveness of long distance hitters last week with a resulting meager tally of four home runs recorded in the American League and 11 in the National. Not one of the six leading fence busters of the junior circuit added to his season's total.
Babe Ruth's slugger was silent after producing four of the round trip blows the week before. The quiet was more marked following the Cardinals' start Monday, when Wilson of the Cubs and Southworth of the Cardinals both connected for twin homers.

Grace Stewart of Lorelei is a strong favorite to win the back stroke title, while Adolph Furman of Forest Park Highlands and John Leandowski of the New Coliseum are regarded as outstanding contenders for the breast stroke trophy.

Women's Western Golf Event Opens
Mrs. Reinhardt Will Not Defend Title in Play at Chicago.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Olympia Fields was host to the Middle-west's big annual golf party today, with upwards of 150 guests paired in the qualifying medal round of the Women's Western Championship tournament.
More than 30 city and regional champions entered the competition for the undefended title of Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt of Dallas, three time champion, who was prevented by illness from launching a campaign for a fourth successive championship. Her failure to enter made the tourney a free-for-all and gave courage to a host of young women who figured as promising participants behind a dozen to whom annexation of a major title would provide an unprecedented thrill.
Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis, 1922 champion, and Mrs. Hartley Higbie of Detroit, 1925 runner-up, were among tournament veterans favored with Miss Marlon Turpie of New Orleans and Virginia Van Winkle, Chicago champion, to reach the last rounds.
Survivors of the qualifying round will pair in 18-hole match play daily through Friday and the finalists will do two rounds Saturday.
Mrs. O. H. Hill of Meadow Lake, Kansas City, turned in the low card of the pre-tournament rounds with an 80 on Friday, and Mrs. Gaut was next with an 82. Par for women is 83.

Hornsby's Men in First By 4 Percentage Points, Meadows Batted Out
The Cardinals are in first place! Pittsburgh dropped the first game of a double-header to Brooklyn, 7-3, today, and fell four percentage points below Hornsby's men. The Pirates used Meadows, Morrison and Aldridge in a vain attempt to retain the league leadership. Petty hurled for Brooklyn.
By J. Roy Stockton.
Secretary Clarence Lloyd of the Cardinals announced at 2 o'clock that the scheduled game with the Braves would be played if possible. This is the last Western trip of the season for the Braves and games not played will be lost. If today's game is postponed a double-header will be scheduled for tomorrow.
That's a steep hill that leads to first place in the National League.
Rogers Hornsby and his Cardinals have won 16 of their last 18 games. They have won eight of their last nine, 10 of their last 11. They have made a clean sweep of the last eight games.
Sisler's Men to Open Series With Senators, Today
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—THE Browns were here today to open a series with the 1926 American League champion Senators this afternoon. It was expected that Ernie Nevers would start against Harris' men. The Browns were halted by rain in their final appearance at New York yesterday.
off his glove and Hornsby reached second and Bottomley first.
Lester Bell seized the opportunity and shot a double down the left field line, scoring Hornsby and Bottomley.
McGraw used a pinch hitter in the eighth and John Scott finished the game. Scott struck out three men, Bottomley, Douthett and O'Farrell, but Lester Bell connected with a fast one and lined a home run in to the right field pavilion. Thus the slugging third sacker drove in three of the four Cardinals runs.
Cardinal followers may not realize that the team will play only 10 more league games in St. Louis this season. This is the final stand at home, and after meeting the Braves, Phillies and Pirates, the team will take to the road to finish the campaign in the land of the enemy.
The 11 games will be played in 10 days. Today, tomorrow and Wednesday the Cards meet the Braves. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday the Phillies will furnish the opposition and a double-header.

GAINES MURDER SLEUTH FOUND DEAD FROM GAS

Seattle Coroner Thinks Robert
Glanville, State Investigator, Victim of Foul Play.

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 23.—Acting on a theory that Robert Glanville, State Investigator in the murder of Sylvia H. Gaines, Smith College graduate, was murdered, Coroner Carson has taken custody of his body pending an investigation.

Glanville was found dead in a gas-filled room here Tuesday. Wallace Cloyes Gaines, the girl's father, was convicted Thursday of murdering her and the penalty fixed at death by hanging.

A note found near Glanville's body said: "Good-by, I am kind of disappointed." Investigators declared the handwriting did not appear to be Glanville's.

Glanville's connection with the Gaines case was not known until after his death, although officials said he played an important part in uncovering links in the chain of evidence by which the State obtained Gaines' conviction.

Will Speak on Mexican Conflict.
"The Situation in Mexico" will be discussed by Dr. Steven J. Corey, secretary of Foreign Missions for the United Missionary Society, at tomorrow's luncheon of the Scottish Rite Club at American Annex Hotel.

$70,000 BEQUEST TO SHRINER'S HOSPITAL

G. M. Burns Wills It All but
$30,000 of His $100,000
Estate.

The Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children, a Masonic institution at 700 South Kingshighway, is the principal beneficiary of an estate estimated at $100,000, dispositive of the will of George M. Burns, 68 years old, sales agent of the Railway Steel Spring Co., who died Aug. 16 at his home, 5735 Pershing avenue.

The will, filed today in Probate Court, makes specific bequests approximating $30,000 to relatives and others, and places the residue of the estate in trust with the National Bank of Commerce for the benefit of the Shrine Hospital. The fund is to be held intact for 10 years, then used to maintain a convalescent home, if the hospital has such a home then; if not, the money is to be applied to general hospital purposes.

Mr. Burns was a native of Coshocton, O., and was buried there. He willed $10,000 to the Coshocton Public Library and to the Coshocton City Hospital a sum sufficient to endow one bed permanently for destitute, indigent patients; also $300 for maintenance of his burial lot.

Other bequests were: $2000 to his housekeeper, Mrs. Minnie Blomberg, for faithful service; $2000 each to Jerome and Billie Bernoudy, sons of a friend, Jerome H. Bernoudy; $1000 to Mrs. Ella Hay, Columbus, O., widow of a brother, Robert H. Hay; $1000 to Mrs. Lucy Hay, Conneaut, O., widow of a brother, Alexander Hay; $1000 to Mrs. Rose Harrison, Anaheim, Cal.; $4000 to be divided between Marie Hay and Anna Groves, nieces; $1000 to be divided among James Hay Wilson, Frederick Wilson and Edwin Wilson, cousins; $2000 to Mrs. Lou H. Tatt, Columbus, a cousin; $1000 to the children of a cousin, Berné Hackel, Maplewood, O.; $1000 each to the two children of a brother, James Hay.

FORMER HERRIN POLICEMAN KILLED IN ROADHOUSE ROW
Another Man Shot in Head and Probably Fatally Wounded.
New-Maron, Ill.

By the Associated Press.
HERRIN, Ill., Aug. 23.—Harry Walker, 45 years old, former Herrin policeman, was killed and Everett Smith, 28 years old, shot through the head and probably fatally wounded at a roadhouse near Marion, Ill., last night.

Walker, a special Deputy Sheriff, who was aligned against the S. Glen Young forces in the disturbances of recent years, was shot in the back, the bullet passing near his heart in going through the body.

As yet there is no information as to who did the shooting. Walker, a son of a former Chief of Police Mat Walker of Herrin, is survived by a widow.

PUTS FIST THROUGH WINDOW GLASS
A man put his fist through a plate glass window of the restaurant at 1110 Franklin avenue last night, after an argument over the price of a meal. He was on the sidewalk binding a cut hand when a policeman arrived. He said he was Ralph Longhauser, 30 years old, of 320 Biddle street, and was charged with peace disturbance.

FREE HER FIANCE FROM JAIL
By the Associated Press.
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 23.—Albert Wolff, wealthy Carlinville baker, together with his son and prospective daughter-in-law, came to grief in Lexington early Sunday. They had toured down the main street of Lexington, proceeding to break their bottles in exuberant enthusiasm over the approaching marriage.

Wolff and his son were booked on charges of being drunk and disorderly, and resisting an officer. They were locked up to sober up. The officers freed the young woman. In return, she made her way to the jail and proceeded to break the lock and allow the two men to escape. They were found a mile south of Lexington, and were returned and given a hearing before Justices of the Peace.

How to Avoid 90% of all illnesses
The entire scientific world is agreed that 90% of all physical ailments are preventable.

And it has been recently proven beyond doubt that the cause of nearly every disease—functional or organic—is intestinal disorder (chronic constipation). Three-fourths of our own nation is prey to this malicious condition.

This disease of civilization is as preventable as it is prevalent and dangerous. Therefore, the prevention of 90% of all illnesses depends upon the prevention and relief of intestinal disorder; in other words, the proper elimination of poisonous waste matter from the body.

This means living consistently according to simple, sane rules—correct diet, exercise, fresh air, regular habits, cheerful thinking, and cleanliness, inside as well as outside. This last most important aid to health and happiness is possible through Nature's most perfect ally—Hunt's Laxative.

All of which is covered in the booklet, "Civilization's Greatest Menace," free upon request.

SEVEN MEN KILLED IN FREIGHT TRAIN WRECK

Four Others Riding in Box Cars Injured in Illinois—Crew Unhurt.

By the Associated Press.
WYANETTE, Ill., Aug. 23.—Seven persons were killed and four others were injured when a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy freight train was wrecked here yesterday. The injured men were taken to Princeton awaiting identification.

Eighteen cars carrying perishable freight were thrown from the tracks, the wreck being caused, it was believed, by the breaking of an arch bar connecting the trucks of one of the cars. None of the train crew was injured.

One of the dead was believed to have been Wilbur Ward of Roberts, Minn. He and four others killed are white and two are Negroes. All of them were apparently between 20 and 24 years old.

All of the four injured were declared in serious condition. One of them, known to his companions as Richard Squires, was said to be on his way to Chicago to gain a legacy of $5000. Another, Thomas Allen of Washington, D. C., was believed to be a member of the depot freight train to await action of the Coroner's jury.

The middle section of the train, which consisted largely of refrigerator cars, leaped from the rails as it passed the depot in the center of town, and pitched over on its side. Many of the cars remained on the tracks when the train broke up. The cars contained fruit, meat and vegetables for the Chicago market. The engine was thrown off the track, but did not overturn and the crew escaped injury.

The wreck was the fourth to occur at the spot within two years.

Thursday 120.20, 20.10, 20.10
Friday 120.20, 20.10, 20.10

By Associated Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The closing of the day's trading in the stock market today was characterized by a sharp rise in cotton prices and a recovery in the stock market.

A brisk recovery in security prices and a sensational advance in cotton featured today's financial markets. Grain values recovered a sharp loss. The upturn in standard issues on the stock market appeared to have been directed by institutional operators who sought to drive speculators for the decline to cover. Early selling pressure was quickly checked and the first hour was marked by a strong uptick. The volume of business was fairly large considering the fact that a dull fortnight before Labor day is anticipated. Credit conditions remained satisfactory, with money available for loan on stock exchange collateral offered at 4 1/2 per cent. Bonds were well supported in quiet trading, though some speculative issues eased off slightly.

Sharp Rise in Cotton.
One of the important developments of the day was the rapid advance of more than $5 a bale in cotton prices on publication of the Government's fortnightly report. The market was taken by surprise when the official estimate placed the condition of the crop at 63.5 per cent of normal, a decrease of 3.3 per cent in the week. The indicated yield for the season fell 37,000 bales to 15,248,000, or below the average expectations. Buying orders poured into the market from speculative sources and from the trade, resulting in an advance of more than $3 a bale for nearby positions. People realizing on the bulge in the market held a firm tone in the financial hour.

Buying Orders Increase.
Speculators for the decline in securities hastened to cover their short commitments early in the day when it became evident that this week's reaction had about run its course. The demand for leading issues revived on the receipt of increased buying orders from the week-end and such favorites as U. S. Steel, General Motors, DuPont and several of the rails moved forward briskly. The chief feature of the day's trading was the upward trend in standard stocks was resumed, although earlier in the day such stocks as General Motors, Pullman, Woolworth and others were inclined to sag.

Recovery in Grain Prices.
Although traders were inclined to take a bearish position in wheat as a result of the absence of European demand, prices advanced in active trading and decline was recovered. Fractional advances were recorded in the Chicago market after cotton values had soared. Corn, soybean and advanced and advanced more than 10 cents a bushel.

Exchange Market Lower.
Foreign exchange rates continued to drift to slightly lower levels, weakness in French and Italian currencies being the chief feature of the day's developments. A decline of 6 points in lira quotations extended the rate to within a short distance of the low point of the year. Sterling eased off to $1.48 1/2 before rallying slightly. South American exchanges were a trifle lower but silver exchanges developed a firmer trend.

TRAIN KILLS MAN IN GRANITE CITY YARDS

John Coffey of Kansas City, on Way to Chicago, Stepped From One Track to Another.

John Coffey, 29 years old, of 4500 Paseo avenue, Kansas City, was killed by a Wabash passenger train as he crossed the Granite City railroad yards at 9 a. m. yesterday. Eyewitnesses said he stepped from behind a freight car into the path of the train which was northbound for Chicago.

An envelope in his pocket bore the name of Mrs. Minnie Wilson of the Kansas City address. Deputy Coroner Tate by long distance telephone established from a description of the body the identity of the man. Mrs. Wilson told Tate, her brother, who was married, left home several days ago to go to Chicago. It is not known what he was doing in Granite City.

CHAPTER IX.

JOCK contrived to be seldom alone with Molly during the next two days. He rushed her determinedly from one festivity to the next, and somehow they found no opportunity for the sweet secluded moments that are so important as the prom to most prom couples. The shadowy hall-room, the little corner back of the staircase—all the places known in the fraternity (and with reason) as "necking nooks"—saw them not. No one entered a room and backed out hastily, murmuring apologies, on their account. No one had opportunity to hoot at Molly because her hair was mussed.

"I don't believe you love me any more, Jock."

"What makes you think that?"

"You've only kissed me once since I've been here, and that was just a tiny peck—sort of a sense-of-duty peck."

"Well, when has there been time for heaven's sake? Look here, Molly, be sensible; you got in yesterday afternoon at 2. We met for a while, went over to the Union and danced till 7:30, dashed back to dress for the Dramatic Club show, saw that, and danced afterward until nearly noon, and then we had the game, and then the tea dance here at the house, and now—"

"I notice," broke in Molly, sniffing, "that other people find time. Your roommate and Norma—"

"Oh, well, Bones—" Jock dismissed Bones with a flip of his hand. "He's a glutton for that stuff, of course."

"Besides," Molly continued, "you certainly don't seem to have any trouble finding time to talk to that ash-can—that Cecily who wears the bargain-basement clothes. What you can see in her is more than I can understand."

"I'm sorry for her."

"Well, I'm not. It's a girl's own fault if she's a—"

"It isn't Cecily's fault, Molly. She'd like to be different, but she just doesn't know how to go about it."

"That's right!" flared Molly. "Stick up for her! Make a nut out of me by cutting in on her all the time, and talking to her, and kidding her—you're the only man who does. I'm sure of that! Can't you look at my side, for a change? Do you think it's flattering to me to be brought down here and then neglected for a simp with a shiny nose? Well, it is. It's positively insulting! People must certainly think I'm good, if I can't interest you any more than she does!"

This conversation took place in the roadster, which was bearing them from the frat house to the gymnasium for the final big event of the weekend—the junior promenade. A distance of two blocks only, but Molly had declined to walk because she said she must spare her feet as much as possible. She sat well over in her own seat, the personification of injured pride and self-pity.

Jock said soothingly, "Don't you think you're making a mountain out of a molehill, Molly? Nobody is going to get the idea that you don't interest me. That's absurd. You know, and everybody knows, that I'm not paying any attention to her because she's attractive. It's just that she's so darned pitiful, Molly! I—maybe you won't understand this—but I can put myself in her place and feel exactly what she's going through, and it's hell, that's all. Everybody ignores her; even Dopey, who asked her here himself, is taking it out on her now by acting bored to death whenever she's near her, and I think it's a doggone rotten shame!"

"Yes, but why you should consider it's up to you—" Molly's voice broke suddenly, and her little flurry of fury died away. "Oh, Jock, I'm being silly, I know, but I love you and I can feel you slipping away from me, and I don't know what to do about it! Last summer—why, do you think you'd have known any other girl was there, even last summer? No matter how pitiful she was? Molly was crying frankly now into her bare ringed hands. "It's not the girl herself—it's everything about this weekend. It's your attitude, and your not wanting to kiss me, and—oh, Jock, what have I done to you—what did I ever do to you—that made you stop caring about me any more?"

He had to guide the machine to the curb and halt there. He had to put his arms around the shuddering shoulders, and pat the bent head, and say, "Now, Molly, don't—don't do that, please—you're just imagining things, honestly you are! Dear, listen, your eyes will be all red for the party—" (a heaven-sent inspiration, this, the heavenly abated instantly). He had to lend her his handkerchief, because "Mine's just lace," and sit waiting while she repaired the ravages of grief with powder puff and rouge. "If it wouldn't ruin the whole evening," he thought, "I'd come straight out and tell her. No use trying to keep up a pretense, and I'm not going to do it much longer."

The junior promenade was in full cry when finally they reached the gymnasium. A typical college prom it was. Typical setting of fur, and potted palms, of banners and bunting of Japanese lanterns and shifting searchlights, of polished floor with an orchestra on a raised dais at each end, of booths marked with the letters of twenty fraternities where chaparrones sat yawning behind their feather fans. And a typical scene: Gowns of scarlet and green and orange and turquoise and clove-of-gold, sophisticated gowns, blouses, wise knowing, faintly wicked gowns. Swirl of rainbow colors streaked with black. Curve of white arms across dark shoulders. Faces close together. Slim girl-bodies swaying backward from the hips. Stag-line in the middle of the hall, thick wall opening to receive to give back, elbowing, never still. Whisper of a thousand pairs of shoes along the floor. Croon of jazz. Blended odor of flowers and whiskey and perfume and soap and cigarettes and damp and brilliantine—the twentieth century odor.

Someone cut in on Molly before she and Jock had danced half the length of the gym, and Jock, freed, joined the stag-line. Here the bunch, hung around here for a while, went over to the Union and danced till 7:30, dashed back to dress for the Dramatic Club show, saw that, and danced afterward until nearly noon, and then we had the game, and then the tea dance here at the house, and now—

"I notice," broke in Molly, sniffing, "that other people find time. Your roommate and Norma—"

"Oh, well, Bones—" Jock dismissed Bones with a flip of his hand. "He's a glutton for that stuff, of course."

"Besides," Molly continued, "you certainly don't seem to have any trouble finding time to talk to that ash-can—that Cecily who wears the bargain-basement clothes. What you can see in her is more than I can understand."

"I'm sorry for her."

"Well, I'm not. It's a girl's own fault if she's a—"

"It isn't Cecily's fault, Molly. She'd like to be different, but she just doesn't know how to go about it."

"That's right!" flared Molly. "Stick up for her! Make a nut out of me by cutting in on her all the time, and talking to her, and kidding her—you're the only man who does. I'm sure of that! Can't you look at my side, for a change? Do you think it's flattering to me to be brought down here and then neglected for a simp with a shiny nose? Well, it is. It's positively insulting! People must certainly think I'm good, if I can't interest you any more than she does!"

This conversation took place in the roadster, which was bearing them from the frat house to the gymnasium for the final big event of the weekend—the junior promenade. A distance of two blocks only, but Molly had declined to walk because she said she must spare her feet as much as possible. She sat well over in her own seat, the personification of injured pride and self-pity.

Jock said soothingly, "Don't you think you're making a mountain out of a molehill, Molly? Nobody is going to get the idea that you don't interest me. That's absurd. You know, and everybody knows, that I'm not paying any attention to her because she's attractive. It's just that she's so darned pitiful, Molly! I—maybe you won't understand this—but I can put myself in her place and feel exactly what she's going through, and it's hell, that's all. Everybody ignores her; even Dopey, who asked her here himself, is taking it out on her now by acting bored to death whenever she's near her, and I think it's a doggone rotten shame!"

"Yes, but why you should consider it's up to you—" Molly's voice broke suddenly, and her little flurry of fury died away. "Oh, Jock, I'm being silly, I know, but I love you and I can feel you slipping away from me, and I don't know what to do about it! Last summer—why, do you think you'd have known any other girl was there, even last summer? No matter how pitiful she was? Molly was crying frankly now into her bare ringed hands. "It's not the girl herself—it's everything about this weekend. It's your attitude, and your not wanting to kiss me, and—oh, Jock, what have I done to you—what did I ever do to you—that made you stop caring about me any more?"

He had to guide the machine to the curb and halt there. ## STRETCH—and You Shall Find HEALTH

The New Kinetonic Exercises, Which Exemplify a Scientific Application of the Total Human Energies to the Practical Business of Life

By ABEN KANDEL

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.

THIS is the interesting experience of a scientist who, in the study of a malady that threatened his own life, discovered a simple remedial form of "aspirational" exercise which not only restored him to health but helped many of his friends. William G. H. Brehrer, a mechanical engineer by profession and a graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, is the man. Reaching—a literal, tense straining of the muscles as well as a mental reaching—constitutes the form of exercise.

TEN years ago Dr. Brehrer, then on an oil expedition in Mexico, was taken down with a severe attack of malaria fever. The disease ravaged his body and depressed his spirits. He was obliged to leave his work and return to the United States for adequate medical attention.

He sought the advice of physicians, who treated him for a variety of disorders. Months later, and when his case showed little prospect, he dug into physiology, anatomy, biology and the chemical sciences, with the hope of understanding his own condition more intelligently. To this study Brehrer brought his own technical equipment and engineering knowledge, as he relates it.

"One morning I awoke feeling more depressed than usual. I was young, well equipped for my profession and very ambitious to succeed. But my physical and mental depression, brought on by the malaria fever, handicapped me almost to the point of elimination from the race. Instinctively I stretched my arms above my head, reaching high up, as though to draw energy and inspiration from above. On relaxation, I felt a flow of energy all through me and a renewed vigor. I repeated this exercise and it dawned upon me that in this simple, wholly instinctive and natural movement help to my condition might lie."

From that point on Brehrer plunged more enthusiastically into research work, seeking in science some sound basis for a theory. And he earnestly believes he has found it.

who had peremptorily snatched her away.

Jock cut in, successively, on Gloria Martin, on a languid brunette with earrings the size of butter plates, on Norma Knight, on a blonde who was mildly intoxicated, on a theatrical-looking girl who called him "a kid," and on Willy Winters. They all greeted him graciously, and they all said much the same things. Well, it was about time he remembered they were there! They'd been wondering all evening when he was going to look their way. But of course, he'd been so absorbed in that queer little person Dopey Lane brought...

Every one of them had noticed him with Cecily, and knew approximately how long he had danced with her. Jock thought this very curious. Being that rare avis, a young man almost entirely without vanity, it did not occur to him that girls would always observe and mentally register all his activities, no matter how many other male beings there might be present.

Half an hour passed before he danced with Molly again. "Jock," she declared then, "I cannot stand it, that's all there is to it! I'll have to go back to the frat house and get another pair of shoes. These are brand new, and my feet are tired anyway from dancing constantly for two days, and I'm suffering agonies."

"I'll go back and get them. Tell me where they are."

"You never could find them—" "Sure I could!" A suspicion that if Molly returned to the deserted fraternity house with him there would be another scene similar to the recent one in the roadster made Jock all the more emphatic. "Sure, Molly, I'll find them all right. Where'd you leave them? What do they look like?"

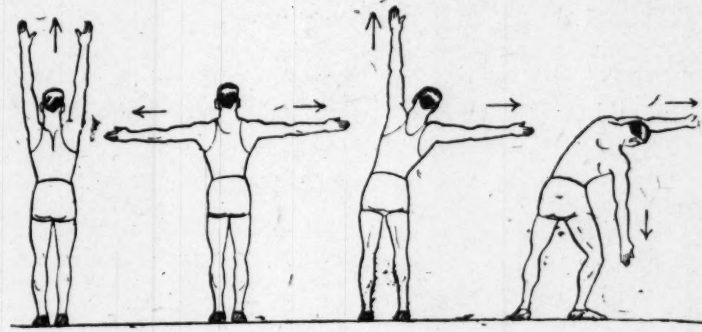

"They're silver," Molly said. "Silver brocade, and they tie on the slipper with little tassels. They're in the closet—Norma has a pair, in which case you'll know mine because they'll be the smallest. But I'd better go with you—"

Jock turned her over to an approaching stag, and went alone.

New Inventions.

Resembling pliers is an instrument invented for trimming rinds of oranges or grapefruit into ornamental designs.

SIMPLE EXERCISE No. 1—Facing a wall, stretch the arms as far and as hard as possible in the directions indicated by the arrows. Maintain each position at maximum while counting ten. Vary the breathing, holding the full breath in one position, exhaling completely in another, breathing freely and rapidly in the third, and so on.

man organism. Food or raw "bound" energy is taken into the system and the digestive processes free this energy, which flows in the general direction of the brain, the co-ordinating and control center. With human beings, therefore, the ever increasing need becomes to get a greater content of concentrated or electrical energy from any given quantity of food, air, sunshine, water and all the other forms of enviromental energy.

BREHRER believes that the continued practice of reaching exercises, coupled with an aspirational mental mood, will achieve such a highly desired result in this manner.

"It is well known that muscle tissue, by virtue of its very fine, long densely packed fibre cells, is the center of a tremendous concentration of surface 'tensile' energy. This surface energy tends to muscle tissue great capacity to absorb energy bearing substances in the blood stream."

His point is that by extending the muscle tissue area, which can be done by continued reaching exercises, a greater energy flow will result.

Brehrer also finds that by translating vital phenomena in terms of a single variable energy, "we are helped to visualize clearly the essential unity of the organism and to comprehend the relations between all of the organism's internal and external activities."

In developing a background for this thesis, the biological student reached deep into the evolutionary history of man and interpreted in the light of his views, the beginnings of our present physical structure.

"There was a very remote time," he suggests, "when our struggling forefathers did much crawling around on all fours. But somewhere in the crowd there were a few bright aspiring fellows who learned to reach up with their forelimbs and take vigorous hold of things."

Brehrer rates this comparatively simple trick of rearing up on two legs to grasp something out of easy reach "the greatest invention in human history."

Civilization of man, accordingly, advanced in direct proportion to his growth of reaching out abilities. TRANSPLANTING this theory from the realm of the physical and scientific to the metaphysical and imaginative presents few difficulties.

Most of the aspirational phraseology in English seems to be woven about the word "reach" and its synonyms. You "reach" for your goal. You "strive" for success.

There is also the phrase "to reach around," which might be termed a by-product of the direct strain. Ingenuity, resourcefulness, cunning, mental and physical devices for "reaching around," might have resulted by implication from the original "reaching out."

NO. 2, BENDING EXERCISE—Facing wall with hands stretched out, (A) press forward with hands stretched out, (B) resting chin against wall, press chest forward, (C) keep legs straight, throw hips back, chest forward and (D) squat down, sitting on heels, then arch body as in (B), head well back.

The development of these faculties contributed to the source of guiding intelligence, which is the controlling force of modern life.

"Indeed," emphasizes the theorist, "when we examine the brain structure we see that those higher processes, which we call thinking, visualizing, creating, are associated with the flow of energy over the long, complex nerve circuits in the upper reaches of the brain. Real creative thinking might be described as a conscious reaching into the upper brain structure to 'reach' selected circuits around a problem."

THE definite exercises evolved for the development of the "reaching out" faculties are very simple and literal transpositions of the idea.

HOW can I strike a balance between my

Any amount of labor put into them, of course, considering them if one desires. The napkins are nice made and with a plentiful supply of each cloth and color. With a large supply of napkins, you require the "nth" of simplicity. Don't even hem. Use long strips of the cloth. And finish both the napkins by fringing. While it is possible to wash napkins, hang them straight away, without ironing. They improve, and is so quickly done, hardly worth mentioning any work.

Reddy Has to Be Shown

He mentally is truly blind
Who fails to keep an open mind.
—Old Mother Nature.

OF COURSE it doesn't do to believe everything you hear, or even everything you see, but neither does it do to refuse to believe. You should always have an open mind, ready to believe facts when they are shown you. This was the spirit of Reddy Fox.

Graywing the Gull had stated that there is a fish which builds a nest. You should have seen Reddy Fox look up when he heard that. There was suspicion in those eyes of his. He suspected Graywing of trying to fool him.

"Did I understand you to say that there is a fish that builds a nest?" he inquired.

Graywing nodded. "That is what I said, Neighbor Fox," said he.

"Do you mean it?" inquired Reddy.

This time Graywing tossed his head. "I am not in the habit of saying things that I do not mean," said he very sharply.

"Just what kind of a nest does this fish build?" asked Reddy.

"Why, a nest, a regular nest," replied Graywing.

"I suppose," said Reddy, "you will be telling me next that this fish sits on the eggs and hatches them out, like a bird."

Graywing's eyes began to snap. "See here, Neighbor Fox," said he, "it is quite clear to me that you do not believe what I have told you. There is a fish that builds a nest. I didn't say anything about the fish sitting on the eggs. If you are going to doubt what I say, I simply will refuse to tell you anything more about the sea-shore."

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Gull. I beg your pardon," Reddy hastened.

HEARD
"Just what kind of a nest does this fish build," asked Reddy.

to say. "Of course I believe what you tell me, but some folk like to joke, and I thought you might be joking me. I did, indeed. I'm sorry. But you see the idea of a fish building a nest is so new to me that I really couldn't believe you were in earnest. I certainly should like to see one of those fish nests. In fact, I cannot think of anything that I should like to see more. If you should find one of these nests, Neighbor Gull, would you be willing to show it to me?"

"Certainly," replied Graywing, getting over his indignation. "Certainly. I'll show you the very first one I find."

"Is—is it likely to be on the ground, or in bushes, or where?" inquired Reddy with a little hesitancy.

Graywing laughed right out. "I see you are still thinking of birds, not of fish," said he. "How do you suppose a fish could build in a bush? A fish might make a nest on the sand under water, but hardly would be likely to make a nest on the ground outside of the water. We are talking of fish now."

Reddy grinned. "I know," said he. "Of course. But it is the very fact that we are talking of fish that has made it so hard to believe that one can make a real nest. What kind of a fish did you say makes this nest?"

"I didn't say," replied Graywing. "Probably if I did say, you wouldn't be any wiser than before. Excuse me now, for I have an engagement." Graywing spread his wings and started off.

"Don't forget that you are to show me one of those fish nests when you find one," barked Reddy.

"I don't believe you really believe it yet," called Graywing.

Reddy grinned. "I am trying," he replied.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

DO you remember from long ago the grace of a dream that you used to know? Do you thrill, as of old, to the dream's sweet power in the glow of dawn or a starlit hour? Do you know, in truth, what has kept alive the flame of your dreaming, pure and white? What has lent its strength to your hope always through the long, long lane of your night and days? It was not the charm of the dream alone that could lend this joy which your heart has known; it was not in the power of the dream to glow with this deathless light since the long ago. But a faith there glows that is deathless, too, a faith that burned for your dream and you, and the spark it lent through the day and night is the spark which kept fires of your dreams alight.

How much happier is he who remains immovable and smiles at the madness of the dance about him—Dryden.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By WANDA BARTON

Keep the Summer Kitchen Cool.

KEEPING the summer kitchen cool is always a problem. Doing away with heavy cooking helps some. Doing as much in the early morning then shutting of the range allows time for the room to cool before dinner time.

Utensils designed to cook three things over one hole helps keep down heat. The top stove broiler is another hot weather help. The broiling is well done and but little heat is required. The hot water cookers, having four insets, require the heat of but one hole, thus saving fuel and heat as well.

The electric fireless cooker interests many housewives. The type of cooker which has the concealed heating element is most easily heated for. The well should be wiped out while still warm and the cooker left open until quite dry.

In no place in the house is the electric fan more appreciated than in the kitchen during dinner preparations. To have air stirred maintains proper ventilation. The fans should be kept clean by wiping the dust off with a dry, soft cloth.

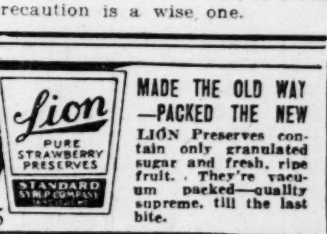

An oil stove used on an open but sheltered kitchen porch is another way of keeping a cool kitchen. The most up-to-date stove has five holes, two of them under the built-in oven. This type of stove is rather expensive but is a fine example of the oil stove.

The kitchen should be well screened and the door equipped with a spring to make sure that it is shut promptly. In places where flies flourish, all ventilating points should be wired, even the top of the chimney. Cover all places where the pests enter and freedom is assured.

Keep the garbage cans clean and emptied; this removes a drawing attraction for flies.

Put a filter on the kitchen cold water faucet and clear water for all cooking will be the result. In the summertime, tiny bugs and floating specks of vegetation are often visible in the water, and this precaution is a wise one.

in this New Easy Washer

Like human hands the Easy's three Vacuum Cups move up and down, flushing air, soap, and water through the clothes and back again.

THE new Easy Washer is like no other washing machine. It has two tubs but no wringer. The small tub dries a full batch of clothes while the large tub washes another batch. Each tub holds eight double sheets or the equal in other clothes. This wonderful double-capacity feature enables the new Easy to do a complete washing faster than any other washer.

The Easy's new dryer makes ironing easier for you because clothes come out unwrinkled. Buttons simply can't come off. There's no friction or wear. And if it rains on washday so that there is no chance to hang out the clothes, many women spin the dryer a little longer and the clothes are ready for ironing.

All the water is handled for you in the new Easy by a wonderful new water-circulating system. You don't lift so much as a teacupful in making the soapsuds, in handling the rinse and blue water, or in emptying the washer. The new Easy is so thorough that it leaves no streaks on cuffs or neckbands, yet it washes and dries fine dainty pieces as gently as your own hands.

FREE A whole week's washing. Without the slightest cost or obligation to you we have arranged for you to try out this marvelous time- and labor-saver and do a complete washing with it. Just phone any Easy dealer, or write us, and on your next washday the new Easy and a demonstrator will be at your home. If you wish to keep the new Easy, payment can be made on a liberal deferred purchase plan with a small initial deposit.

MON JUICE

WHITENS THE SKIN

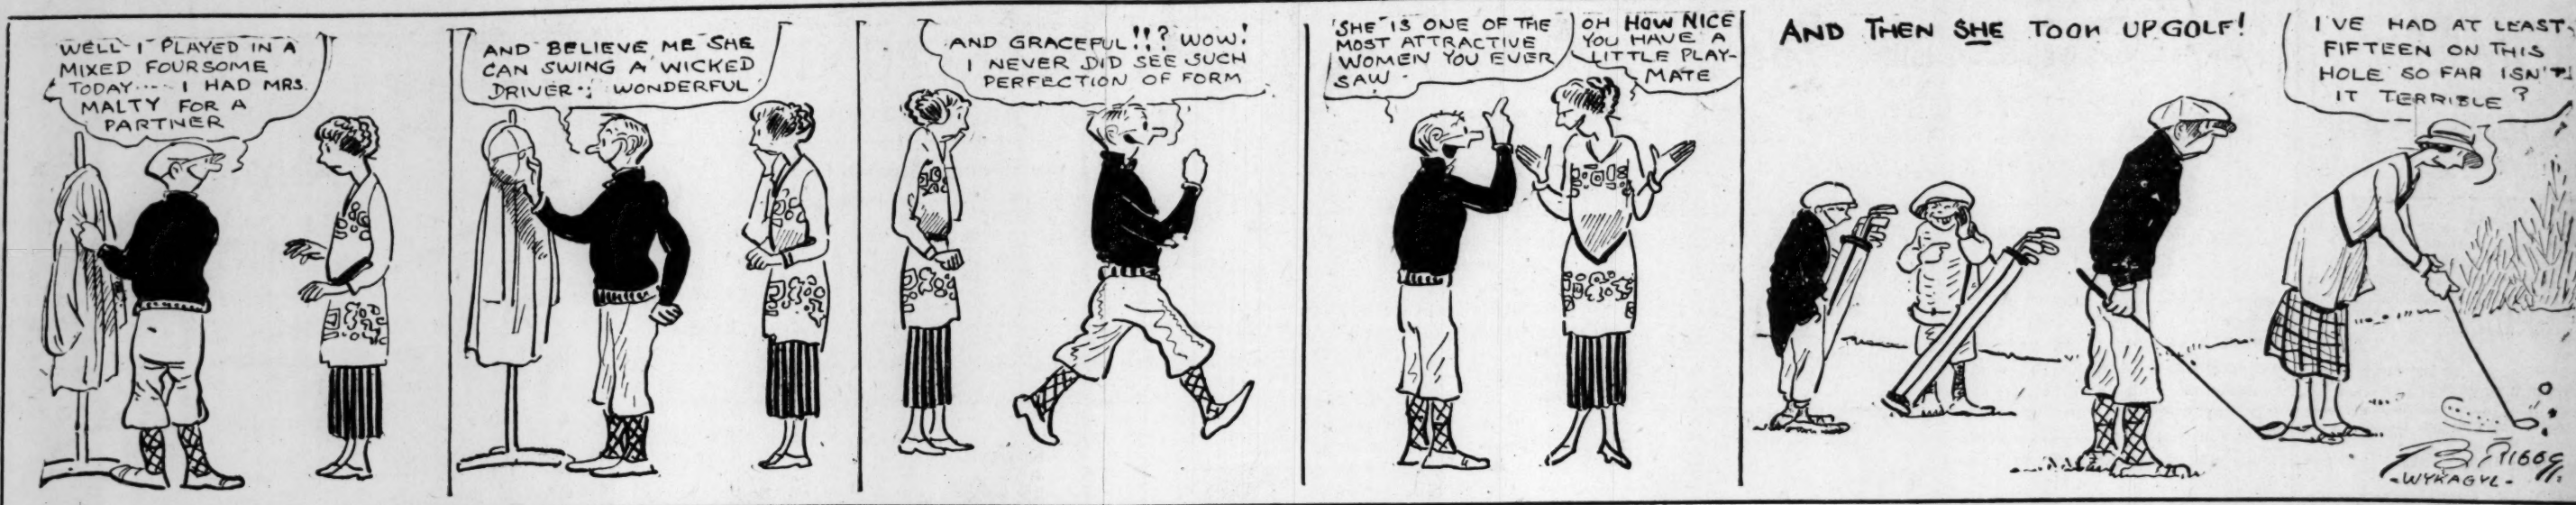

The only harmless way to bleach skin white is to mix the juice of lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any drugist will supply for a few cents.

Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Use this sweetly fragrant cream into the face, neck, and hands. It cannot irritate. The stage beauties use it to that clear, youthful skin and white complexion; also as a skin burn and tan bleach. Must mix this remarkable lo-ment. It cannot be bought to use because it acts best after it is prepared.

See where Wall Street is betting 2 to 1 on Dempsey. However, the Wall Street decision doesn't mean anything.

In spite of a flat wheel George Brennan expects to outrun his rival on a wet track in the Illinois senatorial race.

Of course the majority of the candidates running for office are wet at heart and dry on the surface.

The man on the sandbox says if a prize were offered for the most inane, senseless and meaningless slang phrase, "Oh, for crying out loud" would win by a cat's whisker over "So's your old man."

"30 Cherry Pies Sent to Coolidge by Growers"

That ought to help Cal satisfy the boys lined up at the pie counter.

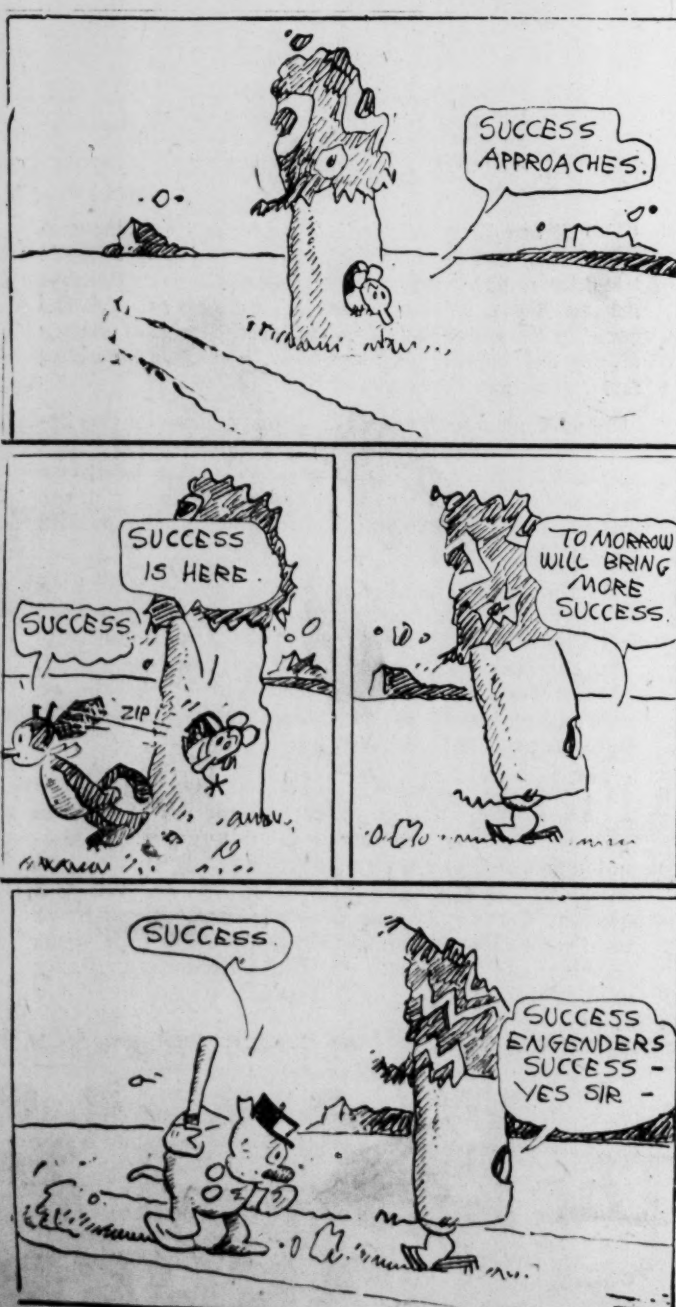

The barring of an English magazine carrying a brandy ad is liable to have a far-reaching effect. No ad is very good unless it has kick in it.

"St. Louisans in New York Obtain Marriage License."
You're a better man than Dempsey, Gunga Dun!

Of course Dempsey applied only for a license to fight, but we have heard it said by certain cynics that a marriage license amounts to the same thing.

Being denied a chance to do business in New York, Tex Rickard will go to the rescue of the Sesquicentennial, which has been hanging on the ropes for some time. Even the Liberty Bell couldn't save it.
